Few U.S. Deaths Seen In South Viet Nam Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials expressed optimism Friday that the Communists will be defeated in South Viet Nam with a minimum of American combat loss of life.

This view was given to newsmen coincident with the announcement that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will fly to Hawaii this weekend to confer again on the Viet Nam situation with top U.S. officers and diplomats from the Red-pressed Southeast Asian country.

It will be McNamara's third such trip in the past two months, indicating the great importance Washington attaches to saving South Viet Nam from what President Kennedy terms a subterranean war waged by the Reds.

REFORMS

The official optimism is based on an assessment that South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem is undertaking sufficient reforms to gain popular support in his land. It is felt also that the South Vietnamese troops are fast learning counter-guerrilla techniques which they will be able to carry out themselves without direct action by Americans.

The present U.S. military contingent in South Viet Nam, reported to number some 4,000, is described as assigned for technical and training purposes only. There never has been any thought of sending the GIs out on combat or patrol work, it was stated.

Belief was expressed, too, that neither Communist China nor Red North Viet Nam would attack South Viet Nam with large-scale conventional forces, as Red China did in the Korean War. It was said the Communists know this could touch off a world war which they do not want.

Thus the only American casualties foreseen would be few in number, such as might be expected from airplane crashes. And

French Set Move On Terrorism

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle ordered drastic action Friday to crush a mounting wave of terrorism amid strong reports that an Algerian cease-fire agreement is imminent.

Sources close to the Algerian rebel government in Tunis said points at issue in secret peace talks near the Franco-Swiss border had been settled.

In Paris, however, a spokesman for the French Ministry of Algerian Affairs commented: "This is anticipation. I wish it were correct anticipation. The talks are continuing."

Sources in Tunis asserted that the rebel ministers taking part in the secret peace talks would fly directly to Tripoli this weekend to present the Franco-rebel protocol to the national council of the revolution—the rebel "parliament"—for ratification.

These sources reported ratification would be a formality and that a cease-fire might begin within a few days and certainly before the end of the month.

Government sources said De Gaulle called in Minister of Interior Rogery Frey and ordered him to take drastic action against terrorism of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS), which is determined to keep Algeria French.

Flying patrols of police and Republican security guards set of roadblocks in various sections of Paris and searched cars for arms or explosives. It was announced that more than 10,000 cars and 22,000 individuals had been checked in the past 24 hours.

Disaster Funds Set For Parish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration Friday designated 15 Louisiana parishes as disaster areas for the purpose of making loans to nurserymen who suffered losses in recent freezes.

The disaster declaration applies only to nurserymen who produce less than 50 per cent of the product which they sell and permits them to apply to the SBA for loans at 3 per cent interest.

The parishes involved are Calcasieu, Jefferson Davis, Lafayette, East Baton Rouge, Orleans, Jefferson, St. Tammany, Rapides, Caddo, Bossier, Lincoln, Ouachita, Morehouse, Acadia, Natchitoches.

Loan applications may be filed with SBA's New Orleans office, 610 South St.

Specialists Asked Business Secrets, Securities Details

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government kicked off its broad study of the New York Stock Exchange Friday by asking for the business secrets of the exchange's 350 stock specialists.

The specialists, who handle the daily auctions in stock assigned to them, were asked also to furnish detailed data on trading in more than 100 selected securities.

INQUIRY FORMS

The 16-page inquiry forms were longer and much more detailed than similar questionnaires sent last summer to all members of the American Stock Exchange, which is undergoing a major reform as a result of the SEC study.

In New York, the New York Stock Exchange president, Keith Funston, commented: "The Exchange's members and member organizations will naturally cooperate to the fullest extent."

U.S.-Owned Company Is Grabbed

PORTO ALEBRE, Brazil (AP) — Leonel Brizola, brother-in-law of President Joao Goulart and governor of Rio Grande do Sul state, Friday expropriated the U.S.-owned National Telephone Co. here.

Brazola, an outspoken leftist, said the telephone takeover was carried out in the public interest and that the owners—International Telephone & Telegraph—would be paid 149 million cruzeiros — about $800,000 at the official rate — in compensation.

IT&T has operated the company in this southernmost Brazilian state and in nearby Parana State since 1927. The two divisions have about 70,000 phones.

In New York, an IT&T spokesman declined immediate comment on the expropriation but said the two operations represent a total investment of $16 million. The expropriation decree, signed by Brazola and his cabinet, was published in the official state newspaper.

The paper quoted Brizola as saying the expropriation "is the result of more than three years of studies and of the best intentions of the state government, which tried to conciliate and at the same time seek a solution in the public interest."

Brizola spokesmen charged among other things that National

HE'S A SOLDIER

Original A-Bomber Would Do It Again

PARIS (UPI) — Brig. Gen. Charles W. Sweeney, who dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki, killing 73,884 Japanese, said Friday he would do it again "with no doubts" if he had to.

But Sweeney, now a 43-year old air base commander in France, said he hopes the situation never arises again.

Sweeney was speaking from the Phalsbourg Air Force base in an interview with United Press International.

Sweeney, of Boston, was a 26-year-old Army Air corps major on Aug. 9, 1945 when his B29 bomber was ordered to be the lead plane in the attack on Nagasaki. It was the second atom bomb strike in history. Twenty-four days later, Japan surrendered unconditionally.

tionally and World War II was ended.

"I'm a soldier," he said. "I obey orders."

Sweeney, a tall, broad-shouldered Irishman with blue eyes, a ready smile, and a hearty manner, was asked if he ever had any pangs of conscience about dropping the bomb.

"Negative," he replied without hesitation.

"If it had to be done, I'd do it again, with no doubts, but I hope it never happens," he said. Then he added: "Maybe you should make that 'we'."

"In dropping the bomb I felt that we were shortening the war at a single strike, thereby saving thousands of victims," he said.

Pilot's Firing Ordered By Commission

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Civil Service Commission ruled Friday the contract of a highway department pilot was illegal and ordered Director Ray Burgess to fire him.

Burgess, informed of the decision, told a newsmen he had no alternative but to appeal the decision to the state courts.

THREE CONCUR

Three members of the commission signed a majority opinion in the case of Edwin B. Little Jr., who had a special contract with the Highway Department.

Commissioner Perry H. Corbett, Baton Rouge, dissented from the ruling and commissioner Frank M. Taylor, Shreveport, took no part in it.

Signing the majority opinion were Chairman Moise W. Dequerry, New Orleans, and members Charles J. Rivet, New Orleans, and Dr. E. B. Robert, Baton Rouge.

U.S. Student Vanishes; Goes Behind The Wall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials said Friday that a Stanford University student has been reported missing since Jan. 22 when he vanished behind Berlin's wall into the Soviet sector.

The missing student at the Stanford overseas campus in Stuttgart, Germany, was identified as Robert F. Mann, 19, of Sepulveda, Calif.

Officials here said that the U.S. mission in West Berlin was notified by another American student that Mann never returned after going to East Berlin for a one day visit. He had left clothing and other personal effects in a West Berlin youth hostel.

Grass-Growing Weather Seen

The combination of rain and sunshine which has occurred in the Twin City area usually results in a fast growth of grass—which means that all that grass will have to be cut, and husbands know by whom.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected to prevail today with cool temperatures. Advance outlook for Sunday shows partly cloudy and mild.

The high temperature expected for today is 68 degrees. The high Friday was 60 degrees and the low was 44 degrees.

The weather Friday showed partly cloudy and cool.

DEATH, DESTRUCTION

Western Europe Lashed By Gales

LONDON (AP) — Gales which sometimes reached hurricane force screamed over western Europe Friday, spreading a trail of death and destruction.

Eight persons died in Britain when roofs or chimneys crashed in on them. Four of the victims were women cowering in their beds.

The Scottish Meteorological Office recorded the speed of one gust over the Isle of Unst, most northerly of the Shetlands group, as 154 knots or 177.2 miles per hour. It was the highest ever recorded in Britain. The previous record was 125 m.p.h. in the Orkneys in January 1953.

SCHOOLS DAMAGED

One of the hardest-hit areas was the industrial belt of Yorkshire. City authorities in Sheffield reported 70,000 houses of a total of 163,000 had been damaged and around 100 destroyed or damaged beyond repair. About 250 persons were homeless.

In Bradford eight schools were so badly damaged that 2,000 children were sent home.

Gusts of 80 miles an hour blew horses off their legs on Catterick race track. Five were so badly injured they had to be shot. One

Glenn Takes Delay Of Shots In Stride

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — John Glenn is sure he can go 'round the world in 90 minutes if only he gets off the ground. He'll have another chance to try next Tuesday.

As it stands now, the astronaut would be fully justified in feeling frustrated and discouraged. Already he's waited about as long to take off from Cape Canaveral as it took Columbus to sail the Atlantic nearly 500 years ago.

But officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration insisted the 40-year-old astronaut was taking the delays in stride, even though they date back to early December.

In fact, they voiced considerable displeasure with remarks made Thursday night in Fort Worth, Tex., by Dr. Constantine Generalov, Jr., coordinator of

Demonstrators Set Georgetown Center On Fire

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Demonstrators striking against the leftist Guiana government clashed with police and set fire to the center of this South American colonial capital Friday.

Britain quickly dispatched a warship and airborne troops from the West Indies to help put down the uprising.

Three persons were reported killed in clashes with police. Anti-riot forces fired into the mobs after first using tear gas on them.

Discontent with leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan erupted into demonstrations that got world attention during the visit here last week of Queen Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip, on his South American tour.

The demonstrations accelerated on the subsequent announcement of Jagan's stiff new tax program.

U. S. TRAINED

Jagan is of East India origin, a Chicago-trained dentist and husband of a leftist Chicagoan and political firebrand, Janet Jagan.

Fires raged in several sections of the business area and firemen were turned back by a hail of bottles and stones when they attempted to reach the burning buildings.

Prime Minister Jagan called for British reinforcements when a general strike called Monday against his government's heavy tax program erupted into violence.

Defying a government ban on demonstrations, thousands of strikers paraded through the city, fighting several pitched battles with police, who tried to disperse them with tear gas.

In one incident, the police fired on a brick-throwing mob in the center of town.

Indonesia Mob Attacks Two Java Consulates

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Shouting Indonesian demonstrators attacked the U.S. and Japanese consulates in Surabaya, capital of East Java, Friday night, the U.S. Embassy reported Saturday.

The U.S. attorney general, Robert F. Kennedy, was in Jakarta at the time on his week-long tour of Indonesia. The demonstrations apparently were aimed not at him but against movements of Dutch troops through U.S. and Japanese territory en route to New Guinea.

Surabaya is 420 miles east of Jakarta.

Sketchy reports from Surabaya indicate damage to the American consulate was limited to a few broken windows, the embassy said. No injuries were reported.

Residences of two U.S. vice consuls reportedly also were attacked.

The demonstrators were protesting movement of Dutch troops in civilian clothes to West New Guinea, which Indonesia claims, by commercial flights via American and Japanese airports.

In Jakarta, an influential Indonesian organization, the army-dominated "1945 Generation," publicly deplored the arrest in Tokyo of three Indonesian students in connection with a demonstration at the Dutch Embassy.

The organization demanded release of the students, saying, "It is the Dutch who created the main source of incidents."

when South Vietnamese helicopter pilots are trained, even that number is expected to be reduced.

President Kennedy has said that Americans are under orders to return fire if fired upon but it is not anticipated that this type of defensive clash will occur often in the sort of duties assigned to U.S. troops.

Despite rising optimism, it is felt that even with success the fight against Red guerrillas will take a long time. It was noted the Malayan campaign against Communist guerrillas took 10 years.

This is the estimate given of the South Vietnamese situation. The fact that guerrilla movements exist does not mean that the local government is unpopular. Rather, ideological and national ties are not strong among the villagers of Southeast Asia. Thus the Reds have been able to recruit for pay and promises small numbers of South Vietnamese villagers. Diem himself is not unpopular, and his reform program will stem broad-scale discontent with the central government.

The way to fight guerrillas is not with conventional forces, but with a combination of political, civil and military action. The Malayan experience brought out successful methods which the Diem government is adopting.

Under these counter guerrilla tactics, villages will be made into safety areas through proper village defense measures in which some of the villagers will be armed.

This way the guerrillas will be forced to attack well-trained soldiers if they attack. And villagers, instead of living in constant fear, will feel free to refuse to help the Reds.

Viet Cong, or Red guerrilla, strength in South Viet Nam now is some 13,000-15,000 compared with Diem's army of about 175,000. While hard-core Communist guerrillas are being sent from North Viet Nam to the south over mountain trails, nearly all their food and equipment has been obtained in South Viet Nam.

No spectacular victories can be expected in the fight against the Viet Cong. However, eventual victory against them should be foreseeable well in advance of the final outcome. Victory in Malaya was foreseeable after the first 18 months of properly conducted counter-guerrilla efforts.

One sign of progress would be an increase in the number of guerrilla attacks and in the number of trained cadres sent in from North Viet Nam. This would be an indication of Communist desperation.

The best measurement of progress against the guerrillas will probably be the number of areas in which Vietnamese feel they can safely travel at night.

tent in this and all other phases of the Securities and Exchange Commission's study. The Exchange's staff will also stand ready to assist in making available about the vital functions that go into making fair and orderly markets."

Reporting publicly last month on its continuing investigation of the American Exchange, known as the AMEX, the SEC was particularly critical of the activities of stock specialists. In conducting stock auctions, specialists are responsible for the maintenance of fair and orderly trading. They are considered the key technicians in any stock exchange. The New York Stock Exchange is often referred to as "the big board" to differentiate it from the American Stock Exchange, or AMEX.

The big board specialists were asked to supply many details about their operations since Jan. 1, 1959, including a detailed breakdown of their professional income for 1959 and 1960. They were told to return completed questionnaires by March 26.

In asking about the handling of more than 100 separate stocks, the SEC demanded detailed information about specialist dealings in the stocks as of Friday and next Monday.

Milton H. Cohen, director of the investigation, wrote the specialists that "questions about particular stocks should not be taken as any indication that your performance as specialist in these stocks has been improper or that particular stocks are under investigation."

The SEC would not identify the stocks, which it said "were chosen as a sample."

Cohen told the specialists also that receipt of the questionnaire was "not to be construed as a reflection upon you or your firm or anyone connected with it."

Many of the questions were aimed at finding out whether New York Stock Exchange specialists have engaged in certain questionable practices uncovered in the AMEX investigation.

For example, they must say if they are financed by others, have share profits with others, have business dealings with corporate officials, are connected with member brokerage firms doing business with the public, maintain long-term investment accounts or hold discretionary authority over any brokerage accounts.

Certain other questions seemed designed to show whether favoritism has been accorded mutual funds or other large investors in connection with the use of such sophisticated market techniques as block-trading and the "stopping" of stocks.

Block-trading is the sale of a large block of stock which normally would depress prices if dumped on the market at one time. "Stopping" a stock means that the specialist guarantees to honor an order at a fixed price if a broker cannot find a better offer.

"Stop" transactions are said to account for about five per cent of all trading on the big board, yet they do not appear on the ticker tape which reports all other trade.

Specialists also were asked to cite their experiences with "stop-loss" orders which direct the automatic purchase or sale of a stock once the price level reaches or passes a certain point.

HOUSING DECLINES

WASHINGTON—Housing starts declined in January for the third consecutive month, the Census Bureau reported. Work started on private new housing units was at an annual rate of 1,292,000 down 1 per cent from the December rate, but 15 per cent above the rate in January a year ago.

THE YOUTH STUDY SESSION which is being held at Temple B'Nai Israel in Monroe is being attended by teenagers from many parts of Louisiana and Mississippi. Those attending include, L. Charlotte Sobel, Baton Rouge; Susan LeWalk, New Iberia; Jill Colodry, Ruston, chairman of the week-end activities; and Bo Pasternack, Monroe, president of the Monroe youth temple group. Activities are scheduled to conclude Sunday.

jockey was badly hurt.

Pylons carrying power cables collapsed and blocked shipping in the River Tyne. Soccer matches were called off when lamp standards crashed on to the field.

Conditions at sea were appalling.

No news had been received for hours from the Danish motor tanker Elise Tholstrup, 211 tons, drifting with a smashed rudder east of the Orkney Islands. Two British trawlers—the Yardley of Grimsby and the Jacamar of Aberdeen — left the sheltering shore to plow their way to her rescue in response to earlier calls for help. Another Danish ship, the two-masted schooner Wella, was reported in trouble off the Swedish coast. A German ship signaled she had picked up two survivors and was searching for others.

Even the U.S. Navy could not entirely master the storm. Capt. Walter Schlech of the Polaris submarine squadron at Holy Loch could not leave the depot ship Proteus, tossing at anchor only a quarter mile from shore, to keep a luncheon date with Ambassador David K. E. Bruce in Glasgow.

As the storms raged, low-lying Holland manned its sea defenses against the wind-whipped waves. The main storm-surge barrier at Capelle village, built after the disastrous 1953 floods, was lowered before noon.

The surge barrier is an iron sheet lowered to protect the lowest and most vulnerable part of the country. The land there lies 20 feet below sea level and, without this protection, 3½ million Dutchmen are directly threatened by the oncoming high tides.

Alerts also were issued in northwestern Holland, where officials reported the water was rising precariously high.

The water was six feet above sea level instead of a normal 18 inches at Den Helder, Holland's main naval base.

The government warned Friday night the water was still rising at many points and a second alert may be issued for more intensive guarding of the dikes.

People living along the gale-battered northern seacoast of West Germany were told to expect storm floods up to 10 feet above normal during the night.

In Hamburg Harbor, the 10,325-ton British freighter Ben Lomond ripped from her moorings and slammed into a shipyard's floating quay. The entire upper structure of the quay was crushed but the ship escaped with minor damage.

The Italian freighter Giacomo of Genoa, 7,170 tons, tore loose from her anchorage in the Elbe Estuary and collided with the Soch freighter Enisai, 2,139 tons, but neither ship was badly damaged.

The 22,000-ton Cunard Carinthia, inward bound from New York, could not get into the Clyde and had to transfer her passengers to a tender in sheltered Loch Long. From there they were taken to Greenock.

In the Austrian Tyrol police helicopters braved whirling blizzards to airlift food and medical supplies to 700 construction workers trapped by avalanches at 6,000 feet in an Alpine camp.

Telephone failed to provide sufficient service.

Two years ago Brizola took over the Rio Grande do Sul subsidiary of the American & Foreign Power Co.

Recently he expropriated 60,000 acres of the Uruguayan-owned Stradi Ranch that had been lying fallow. Brizola called it a big chunk of unproductive land that could be put to good use by landless peasants.

The Brazilian constitution permits expropriation of private firms and property when the action is "brought about by public need or use, or is in the interests of the community." Just compensation is required.

Brizola said National Telephone had been operating in the state as a monopoly for more than 30 years, possessing only "the simple permission of state authorities."

The decree said National Telephone refused an invitation by the government to put 25 per cent of its capital into a state-owned communications system.

Action does not affect the National Telephone division in Panama.

Steel Contract Bargaining Set During Weekend

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Top bargainers for the United Steelworkers' Union and the industry concluded their second day of spawework on a new contract for 430,000 workers in the basic steel industry, then announced that talks would continue during the weekend.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said at the conclusion of Friday's sessions, that bargaining would continue on the same basis tomorrow and that both sides would hold separate meetings on Sunday.

Since this is the earliest that talks have ever gotten underway in the history of USW industry negotiations, scheduling of weekend sessions strengthened the belief that a settlement would be concluded in record time.

Shortly after 4 p.m. EST, when Friday's talks ended, Cooper and USW President David J. McDonald held a brief press conference. McDonald told newsmen that Cooper would be the spokesman for both sides Friday and smilingly stepped aside. McDonald was the official spokesman Thursday.

ham and Peter D'Aguiar led a crowd of 20,000 demonstrators through a police cordon around Parliament buildings.

Jagan, who styles himself as a Marxist-Leninist, said big business elements were plotting against him.

An ugly situation also developed outside the city's electric power plant where a mob clashed with riot police. Police fired tear gas shells. Two persons were reported injured.

Brig. Derek Lister of Britain's Caribbean command was flying from Kingston, Jamaica, at the head of a company of about 150 men of the Royal Hampshire Regiment.

The British Defense Ministry in London announced that two additional companies from the East Anglia Regiment embarked on Royal Air Force transports and a chartered airliner in England and were due Saturday.

The British frigate Troubridge already is in the vicinity and a small British garrison is about 30 miles outside Georgetown.

Jagan, who was ousted as the head of the British Guiana colonial government in 1953 when the British sent troops here because they feared he would establish a Communist bridgehead on this northeast shoulder of South America, has charged there is a rightist plot to instigate a wave of violence culminating in the assassination of himself and his ministers.

A general strike, launched last Monday by thousands of clerks, civil servants and teachers, has tied up business and many essential services in Georgetown. Shops have closed, and rail and river transport, and postal, telephone and dock services have halted. Electric and water supplies were back to normal Friday, however.

The strikers, protesting a controversial compulsory savings plans, a freeze on vacations and wage arbitration regulations, have vowed to continue their walkout until Jagan resigns.

They have paraded in the streets shouting "Down with Jagan!" holding aloft headless effigies of the premier and carrying little black coffins.

The strikers have protested that if the colony gets its independence by May 31, as Jagan demands, British Guiana will become like Cuba under Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The immediate cause of the strike is an austerity program which imposes compulsory savings on all monthly incomes over 20 pounds—$56—to raise an additional government budget of 6 million West Indian dollars—$3,480,000.

Although the strike partly paralyzed Georgetown, it affected only a few sugar and rice plantations, and population centers outside, indicating that Jagan retains strong support among the East Indians who make up about half the population. The East Indians actually originated in India.

Jagan, a Chicago-trained dentist, is one of them. His wife, the former Janet Rosenberg, was a Communist in Chicago and has been influential in politics here. The British Colonial Office in London said the troop movements were for "the sole purpose of maintaining law and order" and had nothing to do with any views the British government might have about Jagan's policies.

In 1953, the British government revoked British Guiana's constitution, which gave limited self-government, because of Jagan's policies. Under a revised constitution, he made a comeback in elections in 1957, however, and in elections last August his People's Progressive party swept 20 of the 35 legislative seats. As a consequence he became the new prime minister.

Burnham, an African who split with Jagan, led his People's National Congress, into second place, and D'Aguiar, a businessman and beer baron of Portuguese descent, came in last with his United Forces party.

D'Aguiar has pending against him four charges of appearing in and organizing a procession and holding and organizing a meeting as a result of the first day of the strike this week.

Harrison went to the house at 4121 Beechfield Drive at 12:30 p.m. at the request of Ft. Jackson authorities.

The family laundry fluttered dejectedly from a clothesline in the rear yard. Eight quarts of milk were on the front porch.

The door was locked. The officers forced entry and found the bodies. Coroner Cecil Wiles said the mother and children were lying on their beds. All were dressed in street clothes.

Neighbors could shed no light on the tragedy. Mrs. James T. Kolb, who lives next door, said, "They seemed like very fine people—a well-knit family." Another neighbor said Madison was "aloof, hard to know."

Coroner Wiles said there were several notes in the house, apparently from Madison to relatives. He would not divulge their contents.

Capt. Madison had not been on duty at his hospital post since Tuesday. An Army spokesman said Madison's commanding officer had allowed him to miss duty Wednesday and Thursday because he said his wife was ill.

When the physician failed to report for duty Friday morning, telephone calls were made to his home. The sheriff's office was asked to investigate because of repeated busy signals.

Madison, a native of Syracuse, N.Y., entered the Army as an enlisted man in 1946. He was discharged in 1948 and subsequently graduated from the University of Syracuse and completed his medical schooling at New York State College of Medicine in 1953. He served an internship at St. Joseph's Hospital in Elmira, N.Y., and returned to the Army in 1955.

Capt. B. L. Henderson, Ft. Jackson public information officer said Madison had a good Army record.

Leftist Italian Regime Is Set

ROME (UPI) — Premier Designate Amintore Fanfani and his coalition partners Friday night announced they had agreed to form Italy's first "center-left" government since World War II.

The agreement was reached after four days of talks between Fanfani's Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats and Republicans, who will participate in a coalition cabinet.

The accord was to be reported Saturday to leftwing Socialist leader Pietro Nenni, whose support is vital for the projected new coalition cabinet.

Nenni was expected to give his approval, following which Fanfani will call on resident Giovanni Gronchi early next week to accept the premiership formally and present his cabinet list.

Construction Strike Ends

All area carpenters have ended a month - long strike, and the Associated General Contractors hopes to reach an agreement with striking ironworkers in the near future.

Loy K. Heard, chairman of the Northeast Louisiana Chapter of the AGC, announced this Friday.

He said that although representatives of Ironworkers Local No. 710 and of the AGC were unable to come to terms at a meeting Friday, he expects that "we will be meeting all next week."

The agreement with the carpenters provides three hourly raises, spread out over two years. The first will be 7½ cents, the next will be 10 cents and a five cent raise will be given during the second year.

The contract, termed "a fair and mutual contract, beneficial to both parties" by the AGC and the Northeast Louisiana District Council of Carpenters will be effective next Monday.

"It was a very satisfactory contract to both parties," said Heard. "It accomplished the objective of putting the people back to work. That's what we are after."

Twenty - one area job-sites have been struck by Ironworkers since January 2. They request a 15 cent wage increase.

Work has continued on these sites. Heard said Friday that "bad weather has hurt us" while the strike has been underway.

Pharmaceutical Group Opposes Cut In State Aid

The Fifth District Association of the Louisiana State Pharmaceutical Association adopted a resolution protesting a reduction in welfare prescription charges but also resolved to "temporarily accept the new proposed price structure in the interest of the welfare of patients."

Plans were made by the Department of Welfare to reduce its portion of the prescription charges. This would reduce what the state is now paying for welfare patients.

W. J. Pierron Jr., president of the Fifth District Association explained, "It will amount to an average reduction of 10 to 15 percent, which will mean, in some cases, that we would fill prescriptions almost at cost."

The matter was discussed Thursday night at the Highland Park Country Club in West Monroe by about 50 association members.

Under the present program, the Department of Welfare helps pay for prescription on welfare patients. However, an increase in patients is forcing the department to cut back financially.

Jackson Girl Undergoes Tests

FERRIDAY (Special) — Since her return from Boston's Children Hospital little Paula Kay Jackson, four-year-old Ridgecrest girl who suffers from a rheumatic heart condition which will eventually require surgery, has undergone extensive tests and examinations by physicians in Natchez, Miss., and Baton Rouge. The doctors in Boston decided at the time of Paula Kay's visit with her parents that Paula Kay's condition at this time will not permit heart surgery and the delicate heart operation has been postponed.

Clarence Wisdom, Ferriday businessman who serves as the chairman of the "Paula Kay Fund" said that just when surgery can be performed is as yet undetermined.

Some temperature extremes from within the United States except Alaska and Hawaii. Low 15 below at Willis, N. Dak. and 13 below at Devils Lake, N. Dak. Friday highs 85 at West Palm Beach airport station, Fla., and 84 at Laredo, Tex., and Brownsville, Tex. Birmingham, N.Y. and Syracuse, N.Y. report 2 inches of snow in past 6 hours.

WEATHER SUMMARY
 Widespread cloudiness continued over the eastern quarter of the country late Friday in conjunction with a trough of low pressure extending from the eastern Great Lakes region into the south Atlantic states. The cloudiness was accompanied by snow from the Great Lakes region through New York and Pennsylvania into western New England. Northern Maryland. Rain was reported from eastern North Carolina into southern Maryland and Virginia. Considerable cloudiness also occurred in the west where it was coupled with scattered precipitation. Snow was scattered from the northern plains through the north and central Rockies into the mountains of the Pacific states. Intermittent rain or showers were widely scattered from the Pacific northwest into California and eastward into the lower elevations of the Plateau region with isolated thunder reported in Arizona. Elsewhere skies were generally fair from Missouri into Louisiana and westward through the southern half of the plains into eastern Colorado and New Mexico.

Cold Canadian air which pushed into the north central part of the country held afternoon readings to below zero in the western part of this state and Minnesota. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s or 30s over the remainder of the area from the northern half of the Rockies and plains through the Great Lakes region into the middle and north Atlantic states. Milder readings 30s and 40s were observed in the Gulf region with a few 80s noted in southern Florida and Texas. The 40s and 50s extended westward through Southern New Mexico into southern California. Elsewhere near the west coast temperatures were in the 40s or 50s.

The forecast for tonight calls for clearing from Maryland southward except for snow flurries lingering in the mountains but snow is expected from Pennsylvania into the north Atlantic states with warnings of heavy snow of four inches or more in effect from upstate New York into New England. The snow is predicted to taper off to snow flurries tomorrow with partly cloudy weather prevailing from Maryland into Florida although a few showers are expected in the Southern part of the sunshine state. Scattered snow or snow flurries may occur tonight and tomorrow in the northern half of the plains through the Rockies into the mountains of the Pacific states while periods of rain or showers are expected in the lower elevations from the Pacific northwest into California and eastward into the Plateau region. A mixture of rain and snow may develop in the mid Miss. Valley tomorrow. A warming trend will take place Saturday in Texas and western Oklahoma but temperatures are expected to be cooler or colder than today from the Great Lakes region into New York and Pennsylvania as well as in the Pacific northwest.

RAIN SHOWERS are expected along the north Pacific coast Saturday. Snow flurries which will turn into rain at low elevations are expected over parts of the northern Plains states, Ohio and Tennessee valleys, lower Great Lakes region and north Atlantic coast states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

PAR Studies Alcoholism

The Louisiana Public Affairs Research Council, which carries on many investigative studies, has revealed a great deal of information on alcoholism. This information may be of great value in helping to solve the problem.

Alcoholism is an old problem but it has not been until recent years that concentrated efforts have been made in scientific study and rehabilitation of the alcoholic.

There are a good many alcoholics who are able to be self-supporting or who have means of support but those who are no longer able to hold jobs and who have no other income eventually become largely public charges because of the amount of time they spend in jail. When they are out of jail they are usually trying to "mooch" enough money to buy liquor, get drunk and get back in jail so they will have food and shelter.

Until recent years, alcoholism was generally held to be a moral problem involving weakness in an individual's character or will. There was little hope that much could be done. "Once a drunk, always a drunk," was a familiar saying. Society tended either to ignore the problem or to deal with it through legislative and punitive action.

Changes have taken place in recent years so that today there are a number of sources, both public and private, for treatment, research and education on alcoholism.

Louisiana is among some 34 states that now provide special programs for alcoholism. This state was among the earliest to enter this field. It is in the forefront in several respects, particularly in the number of special hospital beds and total amount of money provided.

The Louisiana state government now has 119 beds especially for alcoholics at four hospitals and also finances six clinics located in five cities. Five years ago, in 1956, the state provided only 10 hospital beds and two clinics with limited services.

Concerning the problem of alcoholism, PAR says in part:

"A significant aspect of Louisiana's treatment program is that various approaches are used, which afford an opportunity to evaluate the effectiveness of different methods.

"Little information has been compiled to date on the extent of the problem of alcoholism in Louisiana, the cost of services the state provides, and the effectiveness of the state's programs. While the state's programs are still relatively new, Louisiana can now begin evaluating them, and should do so before there is any further expansion.

"The state needs to develop a long-range plan for its alcoholism program, and to set definite goals. Future emphasis should be in stimulating community action. The state also needs to put more effort into research and education.

"The present organization is not conducive to a coordinated state program on alcoholism. Three agencies are involved in the treatment program—the state hospital department and separate boards for the New Orleans and Shreveport charity hospitals. A single state agency, logically the division of alcoholism in the hospital department, should coordinate activities among state agencies as well as local and national groups.

"Professional personnel are said to be in short supply in Louisiana and other states as well. Those available can best be utilized through a well-planned and attractive program. Louisiana is a jump ahead of many other states in its program for alcoholics, and this should help attract and hold professional persons."

For a long time it was felt that alcoholism was primarily a physiological disorder resulting from the intake of large amounts of alcohol. Hence, routine medical hospitalization was considered adequate. It is now generally believed that alcoholism is a complex individual and social disorder.

No one factor has been isolated as the sole cause, but there are different schools of thought. One school (the biochemical theory) attributes alcoholism to a biochemical deficiency which causes an uncontrollable craving for alcohol. Some feel it is caused by a glandular deficiency, especially in the adrenal glands. Dr. Roger J. Williams, professor of chemistry at the University of Texas, advances the theory that the alcoholic's urge to drink is caused by a deranged cellular metabolism due to an unsatisfied nutritional need.

Another school (psychological) holds that alcoholism is a form of neurosis due to poor development of personality dating back to childhood. It holds that environment causes alcoholism rather than some other neurosis.

A third school holds that alcoholism is alcohol itself.

The type of treatment and prevention depend on which school is adopted. If the biochemical theory is favored, then research is directed toward a wonder food or drug. If the psychological approach is taken, psychotherapy is used. If alcohol is considered the cause, efforts are directed toward education and legal action to halt or restrict the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Various types of treatment are being used. Most have met with some success for certain type of alcoholics but none has proved effective for all. Many alcoholics don't want to quit drinking and are unwilling to accept treatment, figuring they get more enjoyment out of drinking than anything else.

A broad study on the extent and costs of alcoholism in Louisiana is needed, bringing in the many agencies and organizations involved. Failure to know the extent of the problem and to make plans to cope with it can bring higher costs in other areas of state spending, such as welfare and penal institutions.

Both Louisiana's progress in caring for alcoholics and the interest taken in this problem by PAR are encouraging.

If some effective preventive or cure can be found, the rewards will be great both in avoiding personal and family suffering and in easing the economic burden.

Too Much Pressure

Those who talk about independent women in the United States should turn their eyes toward London. There members of a group of women seem to be turning on independence and political pressure to the "nth" degree, virtually going beyond anything on record. Apparently they even want to take away the independence of their husbands, but the plan might backfire, since Englishmen are noted for not changing their minds too easily.

Also, as far as we are concerned, the women are taking the wrong side of the issue. They have started a determined campaign to outlaw the nuclear bomb.

As reported by the Associated Press, the idea is to urge wives to "withdraw their love" until their husbands agree to work for abolition of nuclear weapons.

Although, in these days, probably a majority of the people in the United States are opposed to anyone's being lord and master of the house, the British women have found an effective way of determining who rules the roost.

Guru or "Teacher" Nanak, founder of the Sikh faith, borrowed much of his doctrine from Islam. Converts were called Sikhs from the Sanskrit word for disciple. They worshipped a universal God, rejected Hindu caste.

Bailey To Stick As Chairman

President Kennedy Gives Democratic Chief Unequivocal Assurances That He Wants Him As Party Leader

There is absolutely no substance to those persistent stories and rumors that John Bailey is going to step out soon as Democratic National Chairman.

The hard truth is just the opposite.

President Kennedy has given Chairman Bailey unequivocal assurances that he wants him to stay as party leader as long as he wants the job.

And Bailey is making it very clear that he has no intention of leaving—at least until after the congressional elections in November.

The authority for this is President Kennedy.

At a recent political strategy meeting at the White House, the President left no doubt with his congressional leaders that Bailey had his full support, saying:

"There is absolutely no basis of fact for those stories that John Bailey is leaving. He is one of the best leaders the Democratic party has ever had. I told him that I want him to stay as chairman as long as he wants to. He is going to help us increase the party's membership in both houses this year."

According to National Committee aides, the rumors about Bailey's short tenure in office stem partly from his decision to take a vigorous role in Secretary of Health, Education & Welfare Abraham Ribicoff's bid for the Senate seat now held by GOP Senator Prescott Bush.

Bailey, who doubles as his party's state chairman, is letting Connecticut Democratic leaders know that he is going to handle

Ribicoff's campaign from start to finish.

Since the Kennedy Cabinet member faces a stiff primary battle against Representative Frank Kowalski, the popular congressman-at-large, many national political writers are misinterpreting this to mean that Bailey will give up his national post because of the partisan inter-party stand he is taking.

STICKING AROUND — Some of Bailey's closest friends are flatly predicting that the National Chairman will still be around in 1964 when President Kennedy seeks a second term.

To support this assertion, they point out that Bailey likes being the party's top political leader. Also, that he is quietly building an empire at the party's plush headquarters now located at 1730 "K" Street — just three blocks from the White House.

Under his leadership, the staff of the Democratic National Committee has mushroomed to more than 100 — a record size for a year when there is no presidential election.

Bailey has also found his position helpful in taking care of his friends. For instance, he recently appointed his chauffeur and handyman, Michael Keane, as head of the Committee's Speaker's Bureau, at a salary of $18,000.

Bailey is also using his National Committee vantage point for another purpose.

He called Democratic members of the House Appropriations Committee recently to plead with them to stop their slam-bang questioning of Secretary Ribicoff about his short-lived economy drive last year.

In private hearings on the HEW's fiscal 1963 budget, the Democratic legislators let Ribicoff know that they weren't happy about his freeze of $100 million they had voted his Department last year.

When Bailey lectured one member, contending that his questioning would give the Republicans ammunition against the Secretary, the congressman retorted:

"Ribicoff should have thought of that when he volunteered to cut his own budget. You didn't see Secretary Goldberg make any foolish announcement like that. He fought the reduction all the way."

POLITICAL FALLOUT — President Kennedy conferred Friday, with leaders of the American-Lithuanian League. They went to the White House to seek the President's support for independence for that small Baltic nation which the Russians swallowed up during World War II. . . . Admiral Ben Morrell, ret., former steel industry official, is reporting to Washington friends that he was not successful in trying to talk Salt Lake City Mayor J. Bracken Lee out of entering the Utah Senate race. Republicans are afraid that Lee's entry in the contest will split the vote and the Democrats will be able to capture the seat from GOP Senator Wallace Bennett. . . . The latest reports show the Democratic National Committee's debt is $900,000. Chairman Bailey isn't planning to try to cut this down until after the congressional elections. Already, he has promised congressional leaders that he will see that their campaign committees receive $500,000 for the coming campaigns. . . . In Alabama, where the nine incumbent House members are running for re-election in a one-man-out Democratic primary in May, the voters need a score card to determine whom to vote for.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Gas In Stomach

No Food Is Universal Disturber: People React Differently

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: People seem to have conflicting ideas about which foods produce gas. I suffer terribly from gas and not a day passes when I don't have to take something for relief. I know there are many who have this trouble. I would appreciate any help or information you may give to me.—Mrs. F.

COMMENT: There isn't a universal gas-producer. One man eats a dish of baked beans and suffers discomfort; the other eats it with impunity. A woman has sauerkraut, cabbage or radishes with her dinner and sleeps well; another is up all night because of distress from gas. Johnnie eats two pocketsful of green apples and goes his merry way; but little Willie munches on one and comes down with gas and cramps.

For the most part, it's a matter of gas-producing people rather than gas-producing foods. Each one of us, by repeated uncomfortable experience, learns to stay away from the trouble makers.

As for your problem, Mrs. F., I believe that daily discomfort from food deserves investigation. It's easy to blame it on the food and not on yourself.

Have you had a medical check-up? Indigestion (of which gas is only one symptom) may be due to many medical conditions. To consider only one, for example: how is your gall bladder? Your doctor will eliminate the possible causes of unnatural discomfort from gas. If he finds none, then you both can concentrate on eliminating foods that might be guilty of being gas-producers.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Two of our neighbors' children are suffering from some kind of staphylococcus infection. Our youngster keeps pestering us to go over and play. Is there any danger?—Mrs. T.

ANSWER: Yes. It can be highly contagious. I know enforced separation from classmates is difficult both for the child and yourself, but better play it safe.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I know you won't use this in your column, but it is legal for a doctor to give a woman an operation to keep her from getting pregnant if there is nothing wrong with her? It seems to be a fad around here for married women to get this operation so they can have affairs with other men.—Mrs. X.

COMMENT: I have not known any ethical surgeons who would perform an operation for such purposes. The few who do so must sleep fitfully if they have any conscience at all. As for the patients themselves, many come to doctors years later hoping that their tubes can be restored. Remorse or inability to have children causes much psychological and emotional maladjustment.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband has been to three skin specialists who haven't been able to help his psoriasis. A neighbor has told him of a doctor who guarantees to cure psoriasis by giving a series of three shots a week for six months. As this is such a miserable chronic skin condition we are tempted to begin these treatments. Have you had any experience with or knowledge about such injections?—Mrs. N.

COMMENT: I know of no "guaranteed" shots which will cure psoriasis. I realize this condition tries the patience of the sufferer, but another skilled dermatologist is still a better bet for relief—if not for guaranteed cure.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Hints On How To Overcome Headaches," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c/o this newspaper.

Carlos Romulo

Most Popular Ambassador Ever Sent Here By Asiatic Nation

Though Attorney General Robert Kennedy and his wife basked in an aura of American-Asiatic friendship in Japan and Hong Kong at early stops on their current world tour, it was recalled here that this was the first instance in which these two widely separated sections of the world have had an opportunity to display what is labeled as deep regard for one another.

Their visit to Indonesia, where Communism has far more influence than in Japan, was viewed in Washington as a much more accurate yardstick of unfriendly Asiatic feeling toward the United States.

Recently that nation's capital, and New York City as well have been joining in a spontaneous, heartfelt farewell to the most popular ambassador ever sent here by an Asiatic nation—General Carlos Romulo, envoy from the Philippines to the U. S., either as high commissioner or ambassador since World War II. He came here in 1942. He had advanced from lieutenant colonel to brigadier general in the U. S. Army under General Douglas MacArthur, while MacArthur was field marshal of the Philippine army, which then was part of the armed forces of the U. S.

Since his arrival, Romulo, who also won a Pulitzer prize as a newspaper man, has been one of the most effective diplomatic figures in Washington. He also has served a short term as president of the United Nations general assembly. In fact, it is difficult to think of Romulo as an Asiatic, though he never lets it be forgotten that he is.

That is fortunate, for no Asiatic hates Communism more than Romulo. He has made this hatred more effective by possessing an eloquence matched by few anywhere in the free world. Many times he has warned the United States of the danger it faces in the Far East, and his influence has been effective in both the legislative and executive branches of the government.

Two weeks ago, he delivered one of his last warnings to this country, but no newspaper printed its text. In fact, the full text is unavailable anywhere because he does not speak from notes. It was delivered before his favorite social organization, the Miltary Order of the Carabao, composed of former armed service officers who have served in the Philippines and the South Pacific, either in the Spanish American War or World War II.

It is time, Romulo said, that "you get it straight from the shoulder, as an Asiatic sees you." Some of his fellow veterans traced themselves, but his words carried no denunciation.

He reminded his audience that Communist charges of U. S. imperialism are completely phony since this nation emerged victor in two world wars without claiming an inch of conquered territory.

Nevertheless, he said, the leadership which the U. S. established in Asia has been largely lost in the intervening 16 years. The former colonial nations of the Far East cannot forget the great victories won early by the "little Japanese nation," which fought you to a standstill for "two whole years."

"The legend of the invincibility of the West is gone forever," he said.

Asians remember the setbacks the U. S. has suffered, while Communist China's propaganda preaches that a few "Chinese volunteers" fighting in the name of freedom stopped the powerful forces of 17 nations of the west in Korea. Those are distortions and lies, he said, but what does the United States do to answer them? Red propaganda is drummed into the ears of all Latin America and Africa as well as Asia, whose people do not see that Moscow and Peking seek to replace the old colonialism with the most ruthless imperialism the world has ever known.

As he spoke, you could hear a pin drop. And at the end, the generals and admirals cheered and cheered. At least they knew he was not muzzled.

Returning to his nation to become president of the University of the Philippines, Romulo assured his audience that the Philippines are committed with the U. S. It is not a neutralist nation, he told them.

The Kennedy tour seems well timed. But the young Attorney General alone can't accomplish the great task summarized by Romulo in his unprinted speech.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Logic's Poverty

Mathematicians And Philosophers May Lose Everything Else

It is possible to be so logical that minus negative plus and one thing comes to mean nothing against another. Mathematicians and philosophers are capable of that kind of nihilism. They can deal with a theory until they have slaughtered the practical and nothing remains for them but words which bump into each other and flash for a second and are gone in the stillness.

A friend of mine who has undoubtedly found life disappointing wonders how I can find anything to praise in a world held together by spit and molasses. What he does not understand is that I am enthusiastic that it holds together at all, man having a way of tearing everything apart as children tear paper dolls. We could, of course, make a worse mess than we have of the world we live in but the human mind and spirit emerges and finds justification for virtue and for life.

My friend writes me:

"Holding a thing together despite an absurdity does not always represent significant statesmanship. In this case it means holding together an organization which has become a peace-disturbing organization under the control of the Asian-African-Soviet bloc, which preaches and practices the holy mission of conducting wars of liberation and uses the UN as a forum for subversive propaganda against other nations. It is true that the UN has certain success of mediation to its credit, but the same things could have been accomplished by other devices without fostering a machine for world government which is in the hands of our enemies."

My friend finds in the UN the imperfections of an organization which lives by a majority vote, namely that the majority will often consist of the least intelligent and will express itself in unsatisfactory terminology. That happens all the time in the United States when we are suddenly faced by some politician whose manners are undignified. We shrug our shoulders and hope for the best and it often does work out surprisingly well. After all, none of the great statesmen of the world were trained for their jobs—not Caesar or Napoleon, although Alexander was brought to light by none other than Aristotle who wrote so wisely on how men should govern themselves.

We have done remarkably well by a hit and miss method, even in this country where George Washington was advised by Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, extraordinary amateurs who risked success against the tide of the violence of their own opinions.

What can be said of the United Nations is that it has existed less than twenty years and has not yet fallen apart; that its members do not all pay their dues and fees; that the white nations have failed to prove their supremacy for other reasons than the existence of the United Nations; that during a period of universal revolution and continuous war we have not discovered an alternative for war other than the United Nations.

Is this perfection? Of course not! It is a strident effort by man to find a technique for living together without constant war. It would be so much easier to hold the world together in great empires, to suppress every expression of independence and to have a council of five or ten to decide all questions with unerring wisdom.

Unfortunately we sent too many black and yellow boys to school and they have read the same books that the white boys read and they wonder if certain rules of life hold for the whites, why do they not hold for them. And they go in for biology and anthropology and all the learned disciplines and they wonder what is the essential difference between one group and another. And suddenly they discover the meaning of physical power.

At that point we must either recognize the Biblical brotherhood of man or the biological kinship of species or we are licked by the majority vote in the United Nations. My friend does not like that. Too long, he has lived as a superior man, glorying in his production of the Greek pots, of Shakespeare, Goethe, Beethoven and Tchaikovsky and he asks the blacks and the yellows what they have contributed to civilization.

Slain American's Secretary Quizzed

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — The pretty blonde private secretary who witnessed the mysterious bedroom slaying of Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, assistant U.S. military attaché here, was questioned again for hours Friday and told not to leave the Congo.

The secretary, 22-year-old Elizabeth Thring, of Washington, D.C., told police she was sitting in a chair in Stogner's bedroom at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday when he was killed by a rifle shot fired through a bedroom window. Stogner was lying in his bed, she said. Stogner, 39, had a wife and six children in El Paso, Tex. He had lived alone in a villa in suburban Leopoldville since his one-year assignment to the Congo began last fall.

Police also questioned three Congolese—Stogner's cook and night watchman and an embassy chauffeur.

They apparently were seeking to check out Miss Thring's report that she saw a man as she ran out of Stogner's house after the shooting. She said the man told her in French "C'est moi"—it's me. She first identified him as the chauffeur of Col. Ben Matlink, the chief military attaché of the embassy.

But police were expected to release the chauffeur soon.

Miss Thring, who officials said was not on the embassy payroll as had been reported earlier, was asked to remain in the Congo to be available for further interrogation, police said.

Stogner's cook, Pierre Ngoyi, and the watchman, Jacques Simba, were questioned at length. Joseph Matuba, deputy chief of the Congolese Surete, said Stogner had given Simba the night off. He said it was Simba's first night off since he was hired last October, and Stogner had told Simba he would be home.

Matuba said Simba was a good watchman. He said Stogner lived in an area in which many villas had been looted, but his had not been touched.

The killer stood on a low wall outside Stogner's house and fired the bullet 30 yards, police said.

"It is inconceivable that a professional murderer would approach a house so early in the evening," Matuba said.

The cook and watchmen were picked up by Congolese detectives at Stogner's home. Meanwhile, thousands of Congolese police and troops continued the search for suspects.

Urban Affairs

Post Hearings

End In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Government Operations Committee completed three days of hearings on President Kennedy's proposal for a cabinet-level urban affairs department Friday. But uncertainty arose as to when Senate debate will start.

Senate leaders had announced that the debate would begin Monday with a vote expected Tuesday, but Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the committee and an opponent of the plan, said he saw no hurry.

Democratic leaders have been anxious for a Senate vote before the House acts because they reportedly believe they have the votes to sustain Kennedy's reorganization plan. Opponents have expressed confidence they can beat it in the House.

However, McClellan said he would resist any move to discharge his committee Monday from consideration of a resolution disapproving the plan.

"I see no valid reason and from what I know no urgency exists for immediate consideration of this plan by the Senate," McClellan told newsmen, "at least none that would warrant the unprecedented act of discharging the committee when it is diligently pursuing its duty in properly proceeding with the plan now before us."

The Arkansas noted that Congress has until the end of March to act.

The plan will take effect automatically 60 days after submission unless vetoed by a majority vote of either branch of Congress.

In the House, Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, told colleagues that "very few members of Congress need fear the adverse votes of Negroes" on the issue.

Ayres inserted in the Congressional Record a tabulation showing that outside of 12 southern states only 57 congressional districts have Negro populations of 10 per cent or more. He said he took the figures from census records.

Of the 57 districts listed only nine are held by Republicans.

Republicans have accused Kennedy of playing politics by announcing he would name Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to head the proposed new cabinet department.

Ayres called this an attempt "to play on racism in its worst form, as a threat, in an attempt to get urban affairs legislation passed."

As he listed them, the Republicans outside southern states with more than 10 per cent nonwhite population in their districts are: Gordon L. McDonough (Calif. 32.4 per cent); Donald C. Bruce (Ind. 14.4); Milton W. Glenn (N.J. 14.7); George M. Wallhouse (N.J. 17.5); Gordon H. Scherer (Ohio 17.6); Donald D. Clardy (Ohio 12); Paul F. Schenck (Ohio 10.1); Samuel L. Devine (Ohio 11.9) and Frances P. Bolton (Ohio 13.9).

Bob Kennedy's Schedule Upset By Soviet Plane

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy returned to Jakarta Friday, a day ahead of schedule, because the unprescheduled Soviet-built plane in which he and his wife were flying couldn't get over the clouds to land at Bandung.

Two pressurized American-built planes, carrying reporters and other members of the Kennedy party, put in on schedule at Bandung, but the Soviet-built Ilyushin the Indonesians reserve for distinguished visitors had to sit down at Semarang, 225 miles to the east, on a flight from Bali, because it could not get over the clouds.

Kennedy had been scheduled to spend the night at Bandung and fly in here Saturday.

President Sukarno and Foreign Minister Subandrio conferred during the day on what appeared to be preparations for Sukarno's final discussions here with Kennedy on the Indonesian dispute with the Dutch over West New Guinea.

Subandrio, emerging from a 45-minute conference in the president's palace, told newsmen it was in connection with talks with Kennedy.

He declined to elaborate, but it seemed most likely they were lining up points to be made during a scheduled Sukarno-Kennedy meeting Sunday.

The Indonesians have not been happy about the U.S. attitude to their claim to the Dutch-held territory which Sukarno has vowed to wrest by force of arms if necessary.

S. Ode Norred

JONESBORO (Special) — S. Ode Norred, 66, native of Jackson Parish, died unexpectedly in Baytown, Tex., Friday night. Funeral services are incomplete but will be under the direction of Edmond's Funeral Home of Jonesboro. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. S. O. Norred, Baytown; one sister, Mrs. Jim Nash, Jonesboro; two brothers, Mack Norred, Jonesboro; and Tate Norred, Ruston; and several children who are unidentified at the present time.

Fear Of Police Causes Driver To Operate Wild

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Trooper Walter D. Ryan arrested Jim Howard Schreffler, 26, Ryan said, after the following series of events.

During a 10-mile, 15-minute chase, Ryan said Schreffler drove 85 and 90 miles an hour—in the wrong traffic lanes—of a busy, divided four to eight lane highway, speeded up and down highway ramps, recovered from two spins in which his car made complete 360-degree turns on the highway and ignored police bullets.

Continued to flee even after a state policeman crashed his cruiser into the pursued car.

Asked why he fled, Schreffler said: "I don't know. Afraid of policemen I guess."

He was charged with careless and reckless driving.

Bright Picture Of Congo Future Seen By Officer

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The new U.N. chief in the Congo expressed belief Friday this debt-burdened and volatile former Belgian colony will have a rich and peaceful future. He said the United Nations seeks a climate of confidence in which to work here.

"We are neither a force of occupation nor an administrative colony," said Robert K. A. Gardiner, the Ghanaian now serving as chief officer of the U.N. Congo operation. "We are the guest of the Congolese government."

He said a balanced budget could be achieved for 1962-63.

Gardiner's rosy picture rested in part on the movement of mineral-rich Katanga Province toward final renunciation of its secession.

In Elisabethville, the Katanga capital ripped by a U.N. military attack last December, the legislature toned down its conditions for accepting the Kitona agreement between President Moise Tshombe and Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Youth Testifies Saw Dad Shot

NEW AUGUSTA, Miss. (AP) — Jerry Hinton, 14, testified Friday that he saw his father shot during a scuffle Feb. 7 with Mrs. Louise Hinton, a 37-year-old Hattiesburg divorcee.

Testifying in the murder trial of Mrs. Hinton, no relation to the dead man, W. O. Hinton, 53, the youth said an argument preceded the shooting.

He said Mrs. Hinton's daughter, Weber Lee, 19, got a pistol and told Hinton to let her mother loose. He said the girl fired the gun and that his father started for her. He said she threw the gun to her mother and that the shooting followed.

Man Is Booked On DWI Charge

Free last night under $500 bond for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving was Joseph C. White, 20.

White was picked up by Monroe police in the 100 block of Depot Street and booked on the charges at 4:35 p.m. Friday.

His address was listed by officers only as the Buckhorn Bend Road.

Midwest, East Hit By Fresh Winter Storms

By United Press International

Snow storms swept the upper Midwest and sections of the East Friday. They dumped 10 inches of snow and piled up 5 foot drifts in Minnesota and forced schools to close in Charlottesville, Va.

The 10th consecutive day of rain in northern California kept the danger of mudslides dangling over some San Francisco Bay area homes but promised a welcome end to California's three-drought.

Fog, sleet, freezing rain, thunderstorms and high winds plagued the nation. The central and southern plains were the only sizeable area with fair weather.

Weather-blamed fatalities over a three-day period mounted to 29. There were 20 in New England, 6 in Illinois, 2 in California and 1 in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin and northern Michigan were warned to expect several inches of snow before the storm moved eastward into the North Atlantic states.

Putnam Outlines Stand Of Book

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Charleston Putnam, author of the controversial "Race and Reason," charged Friday night that there has been "denunciation but no approach whatever to real refutation" of his thesis that Negroes are inferior biologically and in innate mental ability.

Putnam, of McLean, Va., addressing the fifth annual Louisiana attorney general's conference for district attorneys, said that the American Anthropological Association is "more concerned with man as a product of his environment than as a product of his race or genes."

He quoted a resolution passed by the association in Philadelphia last November, which he said contradicted findings by some of the group's most distinguished members.

Holdup Pair Lose Race

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Two holdup men with murder records lost a race with police late Thursday night—one by killing himself and the other in a fall off a 30-foot cliff.

Paul Pierce, 52, shot himself as he fled across a muddy cornfield, and Donald Joseph, 54, surrendered shortly after tumbling down a cliff in trying to escape.

The men, both from Indianapolis, had been released only 10 months ago after serving 23 years of life terms for the killing of an Indianapolis police detective, Orville Quinette, in 1935. In that case they won notoriety as the "hair tonic killers" because of the scented lotions they used to plaster down their hair.

In Elisabethville, the Katanga capital ripped by a U.N. military attack last December, the legislature toned down its conditions for accepting the Kitona agreement between President Moise Tshombe and Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Youth Testifies Saw Dad Shot

NEW AUGUSTA, Miss. (AP) — Jerry Hinton, 14, testified Friday that he saw his father shot during a scuffle Feb. 7 with Mrs. Louise Hinton, a 37-year-old Hattiesburg divorcee.

Testifying in the murder trial of Mrs. Hinton, no relation to the dead man, W. O. Hinton, 53, the youth said an argument preceded the shooting.

He said Mrs. Hinton's daughter, Weber Lee, 19, got a pistol and told Hinton to let her mother loose. He said the girl fired the gun and that his father started for her. He said she threw the gun to her mother and that the shooting followed.

Man Is Booked On DWI Charge

Free last night under $500 bond for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving was Joseph C. White, 20.

White was picked up by Monroe police in the 100 block of Depot Street and booked on the charges at 4:35 p.m. Friday.

His address was listed by officers only as the Buckhorn Bend Road.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The new U.N. chief in the Congo expressed belief Friday this debt-burdened and volatile former Belgian colony will have a rich and peaceful future. He said the United Nations seeks a climate of confidence in which to work here.

"We are neither a force of occupation nor an administrative colony," said Robert K. A. Gardiner, the Ghanaian now serving as chief officer of the U.N. Congo operation. "We are the guest of the Congolese government."

He said a balanced budget could be achieved for 1962-63.

Gardiner's rosy picture rested in part on the movement of mineral-rich Katanga Province toward final renunciation of its secession.

Salvation Army Cited By 'Lum'

Chester Lauck, the former "Lum" of "Lum and Abner" fame, and now an oil company executive praised the Salvation Army here Friday night as an example of "doing something for yourself — a lost art in this country."

He was featured speaker at the Army's annual Appreciation Banquet in the Paragon Club.

Two hundred and 35 Salvation Army members and supporters gave Lauck a standing ovation for his speech which stressed the return to individual enterprise, as opposed to government control.

Advisory board members and officials received plaques in recognition of their service.

George Rorex, past board chairman, presided at the event and presented awards to: Hugh Balfour and Dave Agnew, co-chairmen of the successful building campaign; John A. Rudisill, chairman of the advance gifts division; Cecil McConnell, chairman of special gifts division; and Don Weil, chairman of general gifts division.

News media representatives recognized for their help in promoting the campaign which resulted in a new $115,000 Salvation Army building included: News-Star — World Executive Editor Jack Gates; Jimmie R. Plaisance, KMLB radio official; James A. Noe, chairman of the board of KNOE-TV and radio; and KTVE-TV television official Jack McCall.

Executive Committee members were re-elected to the Advisory Board, to serve during 1962. They include Vernon T. McCoy, chairman; Don Weil, vice-chairman; Mrs. Anna Mae Breese, secretary; Dale Martha, treasurer; Albin Lassiter and George Rorex. Lt. Col. Harry Ward, divisional commander of the Arkansas-Louisiana division, installed five new members of the Advisory Board: Roy C. Brooks, Bert Hatten, Sam Futrell, John A. Rudisill and Dave Agnew.

Capt. William E. Grantham, commander in charge of the local Army headquarters, drew praise for his hard work in helping to secure the new plant. Rorex pointed out that local residents had "worked for several years to secure a plant. Captain Grantham did it."

H. W. McSherry, Monroe commissioner of finance and utilities, noted that "we in the city are greatly indebted to the Salvation Army."

"Hardly a day passes by that we don't send a family or person to them for food, clothing or housing," Lauck warned against federal control over education, pointing out that for each dollar of local tax money sent to Washington, the community would receive back only 40 cents for the education of the children — but would be forced to follow federal policy. "When we turn to the government for everything, free enterprise is hopelessly lost. I fear we are following in the paths of other nations which have crumbled and fell" because government grew all-powerful and the people were reduced to insignificance.

He blasted the foreign aid program: "We have spent $124½ billion... nearly half of the national debt. What have we gained by it?" and the national debt: "We owe $310 billion — more money than all the other nations put together. What kind of legacy are we leaving to our children?"

"I feel our representatives get back to Washington and contract 'Potomac fever', there is no cure," he said, calling for a grass roots re-awakening of the people.

"A handful of people have been running this country. Our enormous debt and the threat to free enterprise shows how they have been running it."

Lauck stressed "the importance of doing some things for ourselves," as opposed to federal aid to education, socialized medicine and government farm controls.

Revealing that "four years ago, I was worried," he said that now, all over the nation, conservative trends are showing up on the college level and throughout the nation.

"I feel our job is not done. We've got a lot of work to do. I think we will keep on rolling."

Three Children Perish In Fire

CONWAY, N.C. (AP) — Three children perished near here Friday when fire destroyed the four-room frame home in which they lived.

The victims were identified as Otis Lee Jr., 3; Curtis Anderson, 1½; and Thelma Louise, 7 months, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jessie May Ford.

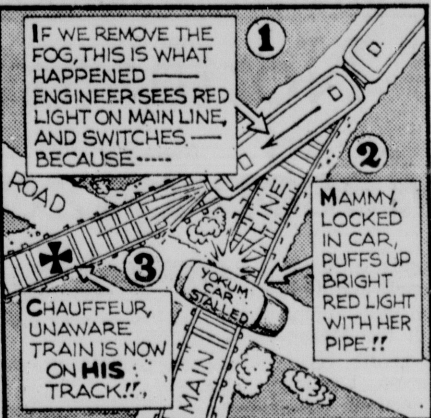

Conway is in the northeastern part of the state.

Officers said the father was part of the state.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

It rained all day and all night in Richmond, Virginia, on February 22, 1862 when Jefferson Davis was inaugurated as president of the Confederate States of America.

Fittingly enough, the ceremonies were held in a covered stand near the equestrian statue of George Washington at the Capitol. The first President's birthday anniversary had been chosen because, besides being the capital of the Confederacy, Richmond was also the capital of Virginia, Washington's native state. And the Confederacy liked to believe it stemmed directly from the American Revolution.

Davis had been elected permanent president in November. The vote again was unanimous, just as it was when he was named provisional president in Montgomery, Alabama, a year before. His vice president again was Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia but already the political relations of the two men had cooled.

The permanent Confederate constitution had gone into effect four days before the inauguration.

Modeled on the U. S. Constitution, the Confederate document made these notable changes:

1. State's rights were affirmed in the preamble and the Deity was mentioned.
2. Slavery was recognized by name instead of by the circumlocution of "other persons" as in the U. S. Constitution but importation of slaves from abroad was prohibited.
3. Cabinet members were permitted to sit in the House and enter debates on questions affecting their departments.
4. Congress could appropriate no money, except for its own expenses, without a request from the President or a department head.
5. The President was given power to veto single items in appropriation bills.
6. The President was elected for a six-year term and was not eligible for re-election.

Nothing was said in the document about the right of secession by states. The Constitution makers said it was unnecessary. The new Congress, House and Senate instead of the provisional one - hour body, had met four days before Davis was inaugurated and he had before him as he was sworn in a measure giving him the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus.

The gloom of the people who packed each inch of space around the ceremonial stand matched the gloom of the day.

Constance Cary, a Virginia belle who viewed the scene from a warm and dry room in the state library after a gay party, recorded that "the concourse of unbrimled in the square beneath us had the effect of an immense mushroom bed."

Davis in his inaugural address denounced President Lincoln for "military despotism" because Lincoln had suspended the habeas writ without congressional sanction. Davis boasted that no civil liberty had been curtailed in the South.

Years later, Mrs. Davis described her feelings at the ceremony:

"As he stood, pale and emaciated, dedicating himself to the service of the Confederacy, evidently forgetful of everything but his sacred oath, he seemed to me a willing victim going to his funeral pyre and the idea so affected me that making some excuse I went home."

The diary - keeping war department clerk, John B. Jones went to the reception at the executive mansion that night and reported it as "lugubrious." Davis was "calm," Jones wrote, and Mrs. Davis "seemed in spirits," evidently recovered from her earlier depression.

Another episode had added to her moodiness. On the way to the ceremony she noted that her carriage was flanked by four Negroes in black and wearing white gloves. Asking the coachman why, the First Lady heard him say that was the way "we always do in Richmond at funerals and such like." She immediately dismissed the footmen.

While Davis mentioned no specific reverses in his speech, he could have; for he had the news that Fort Donelson had fallen and most of its garrison captured along with stores of military supplies.

Richmond learned of the disaster only the next day. The news was hard to take because it followed immediately on false reports that the Confederates had won a brilliant victory at Donelson.

The fall of Donelson, preceded 10 days earlier by the capture of its twin bastion, Fort Henry, by the bombarding gunboats of Flag Officer Andrew Foote, meant that the Confederate defense line from the Cumberland Mountains to the Mississippi River had crumbled and faced abandonment.

The right anchor had collapsed with the Federal victory at Mill Springs, Kentucky, in January. Now Bowling Green, Kentucky, the center was being abandoned without a fight. Columbus, Kentucky, the western anchor and strong point on the bluffs of the Mississippi, was outflanked and could not stand alone.

Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, described by Davis as the South's No. 1 soldier had to find a new defense line and the one tenable one was along the south border of Tennessee.

The withdrawal was under way as Davis spoke in the rain.

Nashville, capital of Tennessee and one of the major cities in the South for munitions manufacture, lay wide open for the Federals to occupy when they wished. The rest of Tennessee was vulnerable.

Jones wrote in his diary, Feb. 25:

"And Nashville must fall - although no one seems to anticipate such calamity."

Another reverse which Davis did not mention was the fall of Roanoke Island on the North Carolina coast.

A Federal Army - Navy expedition, 65 vessels in all and four months in the making, had captured the island Feb. 8 in a two-day campaign. Three brigades under Brig. Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside, landed on the 7th, assaulted the Confederate garrison on the 8th and won a short, sharp battle. The Confederates were commanded by Brig. Gen. Henry Wise, former governor of Virginia, whose son, Lt. O. Jennings Wise, was fatally wounded in the battle.

Burnside took 2,500 prisoners, losing 264 men, 37 killed, 214 wounded, 13 missing. The Confederates lost 23 killed and 58 wounded besides the prisoners.

The Roanoke victory opened a big territory to the Federals - two sounds, Pamlico and Albemarle; eight rivers, four canals and two railroads.

Norfolk, Va., held by the South, was open by the backdoor from the South.

New Bern, N. C., the eastern terminus of a railroad to Goldsboro, also was open to capture and Burnside seized it on March 14 after a sharp fight.

Elizabeth City on Albemarle Sound, was captured on Feb. 10 and Edenton on Feb. 12.

That gave the Federals undisputed control of the big water and coastal area behind the long barrier which protected their fleet from the storms of Cape Hatteras.

Bribery Charges
Filed In Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Dist. Atty. Richard Dowling accepted bribery charges Friday against two police officers and a civilian involved in a Jan. 24 stolen property case.

Charged were Patrolmen Don Sauviac, 29, and Emile Nolan, 38, and Michael Miller, 58, a retired Navy man. Bond was set at $500.

Dowling referred a report on two detectives allegedly involved in the case to the grand jury. They are patrolmen Gerald Hirt and Lawrence J. Nuss, both assigned to the detective bureau.

Police said Sauviac, Nolan and Miller were arrested and booked with public bribery in an alleged attempt to have charges dropped against Carl Tew, 30, accused of possession of stolen property and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Police said Tew bought a camera stolen by two juveniles.

'Alamo' Remark
Draws GOP Ire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee said Friday Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's remarks about the Mexican War are "another startling example of the Kennedy administration's ominous obsession with catering to 'neutralist' opinion."

The GOP committee expressed this view in its publication "Battle Line" under the headline: "Bobby Doesn't Remember the Alamo."

Kennedy, now touring the Far East, told an Indonesian student the U.S.-Mexican War of 1846-48 was not a very bright page in American history and that he would say the war was unjustified.

The remark has stirred up a discussion pro and con, with some historians saying that Kennedy's position is tenable but not now generally accepted. Texans have reacted generally with cries of rebuttal.

Johnson Leads Tribe Over Bulldogs, 65-59

Indians Cinch Tie For Championship

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

RUSTON (Special) — The best basketball team in Northeast State's history clinched at least a tie for its first Gulf States Conference crown with a hard-earned, 65-59, defeat of Louisiana Tech here in Memorial Gymnasium and a timely assist from McNeese State last night.

The Indians victory before some 2,000 fans, coupled with McNeese's 54-45 upset of Southwestern in Lake Charles assured the Tribe of no worse than a share of loop title. Northeast needs only defeat Northwestern State in Monroe Tuesday to claim the crown outright.

The Indians now have a 7-1 conference record and are 14-7 for the season. Southwestern is second in GSC play with a 4-3.

Paced by all-GSC star Larry Johnson, who hit a sizzling 35 points, the Indians, who improve every game went ahead for good 41-39 with 15:18 left in the last half after a nip-and-tuck first period in which the Bulldogs led a good portion of the time.

The Tribe then piled up a lead as big as 11 points late in the half before the never-say-die Techsters narrowed the score to the final margin of six points.

Northeast led 37-35 at the half after the Indians came from behind on a rally that started midway through the period and was sparked by four consecutive Johnson field goals.

Northeast won the game from the floor, mainly by clutching less than their fired up rivals.

The Indians scored 20 field goals on 50 attempts. Tech could hit only 16 of 56, but edged the Tribe off the backboards and at the charity line.

The Bulldogs helped keep the score as close as it was by sinking 27 of 30 gratis tosses. Northeast hit 25 of 39. Tech also held a 47 to 38 margin in rebounds.

Guard Jackie Fair led Tech's scoring with 11 points and was the only Bulldog in double figures. He also turned in another fine defensive effort.

No Indian besides Johnson hit the double figure column but the Tribe got a good rebounding effort from big Robert Cook who had 12 points. Walker was second in Northeast scoring with nine points while Stuart Toms turned in a fine all-around performance. His ball handling was superb and he tallied seven points and grabbed eight rebounds.

Johnson, who may have played his best game in his career as a Tribester, also came up with nine off the backboards. Jerry Hood and Joe Abendroth were the Tribe's main scorers.

IN DISTRICT 2-AA TILT

Jonesboro Slips By Neville, 73-66

The Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers rallied in the final quarter to take a 73-66 victory over the Neville Tigers last night in an important District 2-AA contest played in the Neville gym.

The win put Jonesboro into a tie for the league championship with the Ruston Bearcats. Both clubs finished 5-1 in district play. Jonesboro now stands 21-5 for the year.

Coach George Davis' Neville quintet finished third with a 24 league mark and a 22-5 overall total.

The Tigers from Jonesboro will play Ruston next week to decide the champion.

Keith Hall poured in 22 points for the visitors last night to lead all scorers. He was followed closely by Neville's Butch Cerniglia and Frank Keith who collected 21 and 20 respectively.

Randy Ewing added 19 for Jonesboro while Truitt Nolan hit 17 for Neville.

Neville jumped outfront 22-15 the end of the initial period and led by as many as 11 during the second quarter before Jonesboro cut it back to seven at intermission — 37-30.

The visiting Tigers began gaining ground in the third quarter and trailed by only four at the start of the final stanza.

In the fourth quarter Jonesboro ripped in 26 points while Neville managed only 15, and the visitors had their 73-66 victory.

Cerniglia did a fine job for Neville on the backboards as well as scoring. Ewing was Jonesboro's top rebounder.

Neville's B team won the preliminary contest, 50-18. John Garriett led the winners with 16 and teammate Gary Futch followed with 10.

Alexander and Cox were high scorers for the visitors.

Warriors, Celts Take NBA Wins

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors almost squandered a 24-point lead Friday night but held on to defeat Cincinnati 136-132 in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Convention Hall.

In the opener the Boston Celtics routed the New York Knicks 127-104, despite injuries to Sam Jones and Frank Ramsey.

AUBURN'S LAYTON JOHNS

LSU Faces Big Problem Tonight

BATON ROUGE (Special) — One of the nation's best shooters — 6-7 Layton Johns of Auburn — is the major defensive problem facing LSU's Tigers tonight in the Coliseum. Game time is 7:45 p.m.

Johns ranks second in the nation in field goal percentage with a .592 mark. Only All-America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State with a .645 reading has shot better than Johns this season.

The big boy from Nahant, Ga., hits well from outside as well as under the boards. He leads Auburn's Plainsmen in last year, the Plainsmen made an amazing 75 per cent of their field goal attempts, which established an NCAA record.

Othe Auburn starters for tonight's important Southeastern Conference game include 6-6 Mack Kirkland, 6-1 Bill Ross, 6-1 Bill

Tinker, and six-footer Larry Chapman. As a team the Plainsmen have a .456 field goal percentage.

Another problem facing the Bengals tonight is the doubtful effectiveness of seniors George Nattin (6-0) and Tom Conklin (6-10). Conklin suffered a leg injury in practice Wednesday and has been unable to run since. Nattin has been bothered by illness this week.

Without these two veterans in the lineup Coach Jay McCreary may be forced to start a younger, less experienced team, with sophomores Sam Chase (6-0) and Howard Keene (6-6) in the starting five along with juniors Ellis Cooper (6-0) and Maury Drummond (6-7) and senior Ray Lewis (6-3).

The Plainsmen, on a seven-game winning streak, have a 14-5 record for the season and 7-2 conference record.

LSU will be trying to improve a 12-7 overall record, and 5-3 conference mark in this crucial conference series with third-ranked Auburn Saturday night, and fifth-ranked Alabama Monday night.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, playing Tulane tonight in New Orleans, has produced one of its best records in recent years with a 10-11 season record, and 5-4 conference record.

Alabama's probable lineup includes John Adcock (6-4, Sr.), James Booth (6-3, So.), Hinton Butler (6-2, Jr.), Gary Blagburn (6-1, Sr.) and Darrell Estes (5-8, Sr.).

Booth, a sophomore and Estes, a senior, have been the Tide's best scorers this season with 10.7 and 10.4 averages, respectively.

Jacky Cupit Takes Lead In Venezuela

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Jacky Cupit, Longview, Tex., fired a course record, 5-under-par 67 Friday and took over the lead after 36 holes of the Venezuela Open Golf Tournament.

Cupit's five-birdie round went with a par 72 on the first day for 139 and a one-stroke lead over Ed Rubis at the midway point of the tourney, second stop on the Caribbean tour.

Jim Ferree, Crystal River, Fla., who won the Panama Open last week, also came through with a 67 and moved into a tie for fourth with a 141. He missed a hole in one by two feet.

Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., and George Knudson, of Toronto, Canada, the first day leaders, had a more difficult time. Vossler went to a par 72 after his 68 Thursday for a share of second. Knudson went to 73 and is tied with Ferree.

Paul Kelly of New York and Fred Leffingwell shared sixth place with 143's, four strokes off the pace.

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Gary Gubner of New York University shattered his own 2-week-old indoor shot-put record twice Friday night, tossing the ball 64 feet-10 1/4 inches, then getting off a mighty heave of 64-11 1/4.

Gubner's 64-11 1/4 toss came on his final throw just as the crowd was settling for the New York Athletic Club games in Madison Square Garden.

A 19-year-old sophomore, Gubner had a fantastic series of throws—61-7 1/2, 64-10 1/4, 62-2, 64-4, foul, 64-11 1/4.

Just two weeks ago in the Millrose Games, Gubner, a 255-pound mass of muscle, set an indoor mark of 63-10 1/4.

Gubner, who shot into prominence less than a year ago and has progressed in fantastic fashion, now needs only to break Bill Nieder's 65-10 world outdoor record to become the greatest shotputter in history.

Last week, in the Los Angeles Times Games, he got off a toss of 66-2, but it was a foul. He settled for 63-8.

Nieder, who has a bad knee, quit the shotput game last year to try his hand at professional boxing.

Gubner's loss erased the meet record of ex-world shot put king Parry O'Brien. That was 61-5 1/2 set back in 1938. O'Brien had to scratch from this meet because of a hand injury.

"I don't think I have reached my indoor peak, yet," said the confident Gubner when he had finished what probably was the greatest series ever. "I have been aiming at the National AAU Championships next week.

"Too bad O'Brien couldn't make it. He would have given me more incentive.

"The weather was bad all last week and I also had a cold, so all I could do was work out in the gym. 'I figure next week, I can do 65 feet."

Said Coach Joe Healey of NYU: "I told him to go all out and he did. He's just great. I think he can do 66 or 67 indoors. Nothing is beyond him."

Billy Joe of Villanova was second with 58-3 1/4, followed by Ed Kohler of Fordham with 56-2 and Jerry Monkofsky of the New York Pioneer Club with 54-11.

Ed Moran of the New York Athletic Club won the Matt Hall pin half mile run in 1 minute 32.4 after a jostling duel on the last turn.

Moran and George Kerr pulled up even with Brown and tried to pass him at the same time. They collided and Moran came out on top. Brown, meanwhile, was knocked clear off the track.

Moran got home about four yards in front of Kerr with Bert Ohlander of the Los Angeles Track Club third.

Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich., who has the longest winning streak of the current track and field set, won his 26th straight indoor hurdles race as he skipped over the 60-yard timbers in 7.3. Russ Rogers of Maryland State was second, three yards back.

Frank Budd of Villanova, who also is nursing an indoor streak, posted his 13th consecutive sprint decision in the 60-yard dash, covering the distance in 6.1 to equal the meet record. Paul Drayton of Villanova was second.

Bill Crothers of the University of Toronto opened up with a lap to go and won the Buermeyer 500 in 56.8, four-tenths of a second off Charlie Jenkins' indoor record. Dick Edmunds of the Quantico Marines was second.

Rolando Cruz of Villanova, using a fiber glass pole, captured the pole vault, climbing over 15-4. Henry Wadsworth of the U.S. Army also cleared 15-4, also with a fiber glass pole, but Cruz got the decision on fewer misses. John Uelses, track's only 16-foot pole vaulter, is still recovering from influenza and will not resume competition until the National AAU Championships here, Feb. 24.

Ferriday Sextet Clinches Crown

FERRIDAY (Special) — The Ferriday Bulldogs continued their winning ways last night by defeating the Winnboro Wildcats, 63-42, for their 11 straight District 2-AA victory without a setback.

The Ferriday sextet won the preliminary contest, 53 - 40, to clinch the district championship with a 9-0 record. The Ferriday girls possess a 32-3 season work.

Becky Purvis ripped the nets for 29 points to cop individual honors and teammate Dorothy Staggs added 19.

Watson was high for the losers with 19 and Moore hit 13. In the main event Vernon Alford pumped in 24 points for the Bulldogs to lead the boys. Billy Frenette assisted with 15 while John Richey turned in an outstanding game on defense and rebounding. Red Walker did a fine job of ball-hawking.

Coach George McConathy's Bulldogs will be after another district win Tuesday night when they host Delhi Tuesday night. The girls start the action at 7 p.m. and the boys follow at 8.

Mets Sign Labine

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets signed Clem Labine, the veteran relief pitcher who was released by Pittsburgh after the 1961 season, Friday. Labine, 35, was a free agent.

MEMBERS OF THE Twin City Ramblers Motorcycle Club look over the ten trophies that will be awarded to the winners in the Road Run that is to be sponsored by the club Sunday. The members are, left to right, Jerry Hayes, Charles Jacob, Rachel Ober, president Bill Ober, and Steve Powell. The Road Run will begin at Howard Grifins at 9 a.m. Sunday and will cover

160 miles around the Monroe area. All local riders are cordially invited to participate in the event. The only requirements is that he be a member of the American Motorcycle Association. However, if he is not a member, he may join the AMA at the starting point Sunday morning. (Staff photo by Ben L. Bradford, Jr.)

Area Basketball

Sterlington Meet

STERLINGTON (Special) — The Sterlington High School Invitational basketball tournament enters its final rounds today, with semi-finals beginning at 11 a.m. and concluding with the championship finals at 7 and 8:15 p.m.

The Sterlington girls tangle with Chatham in the opening semi-final match today at 11 a.m. and the Sterlington boys clash with Mangham in a boys' semi-final at 12:30 p.m.

Bonita's quintet meets Farmerville at 1:45 in the other boys' semi-final.

The boys' consolation tilt is slated for 5:45. There will be no girls' consolation.

The girls' final gets underway at 7 p.m. and the boys championship match follows at 8:15.

In yesterday's action Lou Ann Simons pumped in 29 points to pace Chatham to a 43-37 triumph over Linville. Dixie Crow led the losers with 21.

Wanda Brasher ripped the nets for 30 points to carry Marion to a 41-38 victory over Ouachita. Sandra Leavett and Barbara Kennedy hit 15 apiece for Ouachita.

Mangham rolled to a 68-46 win over Chatham. Tommy Tidwell collected 27 for Chatham to cop high individual honors while Dee Faircloth paced the winners with 23.

In the final game last night Farmerville mauled Collinston, 62-38. James Barron paced the Farmers with 18 while Gary McMillen hit 16 for the losers.

Many Wins

MANY (Special) — Danny McCormick hit a field goal and later added a pair of free throws in the closing minute to give Many a 66-62 victory over LaSalle in an important District 1-A basketball game played here last night. McCormick also capped individual scoring honors for the contest with 36. Billy Masters was high for LaSalle with 28.

The victory put Many in first place in the league with 6-1 mark, while the loss left LaSalle in second place, and probable tied with Coushatta, with a 5-3 conference record.

The Many girls also won, 31-24.

St. Paschal Hoop Tourney Finals Today

A pair of boys and girls wins last night set the stage for today's finals in the St. Paschal basketball tourney.

Bastrop topped Woodlawn 22-17 and Swartz nipped Oak Grove 25-21 in boys play while the Swartz girls toppled Bastrop 34-18 and West Monroe's sextet smashed Woodlawn 22-12.

Semi-final action today opens at 10 a.m. with a game between the Swartz and West Monroe girls.

The Bastrop and Logtown boys follow at 12 a.m.

Next is a game at 1 p.m. between the West Monroe and Swartz boys.

Girls finals are at 7:30 and the boys at 8:30.

Northwestern Nips Southeast

HAMMOND, La. (AP) — Pete Clement sank two free throws to clinch a nip-and-tuck 78-77 decision for Northwestern State over Southeastern Louisiana Friday night in a Gulf States Conference game.

Clements' foul shots came with less than 30 seconds left after Gene Wright broke a 75-75 tie with a free toss.

Wright sank a game-ending basket for SLC to close the gap to 78-77. NSC, which opened up an 11-point lead in the second half, led 37-36 at intermission.

Wright hit for 27 points for game honors while Glenn Bowman sank 18 to be SLC's high man.

NSC is now 4-5 in the GSC. SLC is 2-6 in league play.

INVENTOR

NEW YORK (UPI)—The inventor of the epee handguard — one of the most important developments in the history of fencing — was Gonalvo De Cordova, a Spanish army captain, who died in 1515. De Cordova's famous sword is in the Madrid Museum.

Davidson Takes Victory

ST. JOSEPH (Special) — Davidson of St. Joseph got a 33 point performance from Jay Brown and raced by Gilbert, 72-48, here last night in a non-conference tilt.

Freddy Miller added 24 points for the winning Warriors. Don Barton popped in 18 for the Demons.

Gilbert took the girl's contest, 38-19, as Doris Sewell connected for 21. Cecil Hudnall got 13 for St. Joe.

McNeese Downs Southwestern, 54-45, In GSC

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — McNeese wound up its basketball season Friday night with a 54-45 Gulf States Conference victory over Southwestern Louisiana.

McNeese, in front 31-34 at the half, kept the lead until USL took over at 40-39 with five minutes to go. McNeese tied the game at 42-42 on a free throw by Jimmy Shields. Then Shields sank another free throw to put McNeese ahead to stay.

Don Troutman and Al Nesmith, playing their final game for McNeese, each had 15 points. Dean Church paced USL with 11.

Nationals Earn Victory, 132-106

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals pulled away steadily from the Chicago Packers after a close first half Friday night and won a National Basketball Association game 132-106 on the neutral floor of Roberts Municipal Stadium here.

Down only 61-58 at the half, the Packers moved up two more points on free throws right after the start of the third quarter but could get no closer.

Hal Greer and Joe Roberts fired the Nationals' late drive. Greer was high for the game with 25 points. Walt Bellamy, former Indiana University player back on familiar soil, was held to a relatively low 22 points and Woody Sauldsberry topped the Packers with 23.

Bastrop Wins Thriller

BASTROP (Special) — Bastrop stopped Woodlawn 44-43, here last night in a district 1-AAA cage game.

Pete Perot was the hometown hero last night as he not only led all Bastrop scorers with 19 points but flipped in the deciding tallies with only three seconds to go on two free throws.

Woodlawn won the "B" game, 71-57.

Oak Grove, 54-39

RAYVILLE (Special) — Oak Grove topped Rayville 54-39 here last night with Mickey Turner scoring 17 points to lead the way. Charlie Gammill got 14 for Rayville.

In a boys B game Oak Grove won 56-35. Mike Gammill scored 19 for Oak Grove and Mike Robinson 17 for Rayville.

Spearsville Meet

SPEARSVILLE (Special) — Three boys and two girls game went under the boards last night in the quarter finals of the Spearsville Undergraduate tournament being held here.

Richard Fontana scored 20 points to lead St. Matthew's to a 51-21 victory over Farmerville.

In the other boys games Bernice topped Spearsville 43-41 and Marion defeated Hick 65-58.

Girls play saw Farmerville beat Dubach 32-28 and Bernice down Hick 30-21.

Semi-finals start today at 12 a.m.

3 Local Teams Play Tonight

Quachita, West Monroe and Neville all see action tonight on the local cage scene.

West Monroe and Neville face each other in a Twin City rivalry and Quachita will travel to Bastrop.

West Monroe was open last night but Quachita and Neville both met conference defeats.

Quachita was stomped by Byrd High of Shreveport, 82-33, and Neville lost to the powerful Jonesboro - Hodge cagers, 73-66.

The Quachita, Bastrop affair is a league game, and of course, the Tiger, Rebel meeting is a non-district tilt.

Sullivan Retains Lead At Tucson

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Buddy Sullivan rallied with a pair of birdies on the final two holes Friday to hold the second round lead in the $20,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

The Yuba City, Calif., pro's 61-69—130 is 10 under par for the flat 6,484-yard par 70 El Rio Golf Course.

Six of the top 10 money winners of the tour aren't entered but Sullivan still is threatened by some of the biggest names in golf. Art Wall Jr., is in a group of five with 9-under par 131s. The others are Australian Bruce Crampton, Tucson amateur Ed Updegraff, Dave Ragan and Bob Duden.

Phil Rodgers, winner of the Los Angeles Open, and Tom Nieporte are two strokes back at 132.

Bob Stone, a vacationing club pro from Junction City, Kan., who was tied with Updegraff in second place at the start of Friday's round, is now tied with Paul Harney at 133.

Gene Littler, the No. 1 money maker of the year and U.S. Open champion, is just four strokes back of Sullivan with a 6-under-par 134. So is Miller Barber.

The field is so tightly packed that there are 20 golfers within five strokes of the leader. Scores are so low that a 1-over-par 141 meant elimination from the final two rounds. The low 69 pros will continue play Saturday.

Sullivan has been a pro for 12 years but has never won a PGA event. So far this year he has made $136.

Players who started out in the morning had ideal playing conditions, but the afternoon play was marred by tricky winds.

Bob LaRaba Killed In Auto Accident

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Bob LaRaba, 28-year-old linebacker for the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, was killed Friday when his station wagon crashed into a light pole in a rain storm.

Police said his car was traveling at 65 to 70 miles an hour when it hit the curb of a center island coming out of a curve and then struck the utility pole and wrapped around its base. LaRaba was alone in the car.

LaRaba, survived by his widow and two children, was born in Sheldon, Vt., and grew up in Niagara Falls, N.Y. He played college football at Texas Western.

Maroons Go For 10th SEC Win Tonight

By VERNON BUTLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Mississippi State goes after its 10th consecutive basketball victory Saturday night in a Southeastern Conference home game with the Florida Gators.

The Maroons, who upset Kentucky last Monday night, are tied with the Wildcats for the SEC lead with an 8-1 conference record. State is 19-1 for all games with the loss a 100-86 beating last month by Vanderbilt.

Other Saturday games feature third-place Auburn (7-2) at Louisiana State (5-3), Alabama (5-4) at Tulane (3-3), Georgia (1-8) at Mississippi (2-7), Tennessee (2-6) at Vanderbilt (4-5) and Louisville at Georgia Tech (3-7). Kentucky is idle.

Auburn faces its sternest road test of the season against LSU and Tulane and must win both games to stay in contention for a bid to the NCAA tournament. Mississippi State won't go because the playoffs are integrated, and Auburn can be the team by winning all of its five remaining games, including a big one Feb. 24 against Kentucky on the Auburn court.

Alabama, the SEC's surprise team, hopes to keep its record above the .500 level on the trip to New Orleans and Baton Rouge. The tide has no high scorers but has displayed a disciplined, balanced offense and a tenacious defense in most games.

Georgia will try to get Ole Miss for company in the conference cellar slot by upsetting the Rebels at Oxford. A Georgia victory would leave both with identical 2-8 records.

Vanderbilt can regain the .500 level by beating Tennessee, and the Commodores are heavily favored to do this.

Georgia Tech, the lone team in non-conference action, will be underdogs against Louisville.

Britain Urges Russia To Halt 'Flagrant' Force

LONDON (UPI)—Britain urged the Soviet Union Friday to restrain the North Vietnamese Communists from their "flagrant" attempts to overthrow by force the government of South Viet Nam. A formal British memorandum urged the Kremlin to call off the North Vietnamese in Russia's role as co-chairman with Britain of the 1954 Geneva Conference that ended the Indochina War. Britain bluntly rejected a Soviet charge that U.S. military assistance to South Viet Nam was aimed at turning that country into a strategic bridgehead in South-east Asia. It said it feels that the tensions in South Viet Nam "arise directly from the pursuance by the North Vietnamese authority of the policy of seeking to overthrow the established government in South Viet Nam." "Her Majesty's government," the British aide-memoire continued, "are convinced that the rebellion in the south has been fomented, organized, in part supplied and wholly directed from the north." The British appeal was delivered to the Soviet Charge d'Affairs in London, A. V. Loginov. It re-

U.N. Workers Can Be Tried

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge upheld the city's right to prosecute law violations committed at United Nations headquarters and sentenced a former U.N. clerk to 15 to 30 years in prison for swindling. General Sessions Judge James E. Mulcahy Friday overrode a contention by the clerk, Nicholas Coumatos, 29, that the city lacked jurisdiction. Mulcahy said the United Nations and the United States made a "headquarters agreement" in 1947 that "local law" applied to violations committed within U.S. boundaries. The U.N. has extraterritorial status politically. Coumatos was convicted Jan. 19 of swindling fellow U.N. employees of $187,000 from March 1959 through July 1960 in a scheme to buy foreign stamps and sell them at a profit. The judge noted that no restitution had been made. Coumatos was described by his counsel as penniless.

Ward-Dickard Wedding Today Preceded By Wednesday Dinner Party

The Jade Room of the Paragon Club was the setting for a dinner party on Wednesday evening, February 14, honoring Miss Sue Dickard and Mr. John M. Ward, whose wedding will be solemnized today. Hosts for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frazier.

A pink and white color scheme was used throughout, and guests were seated at an "O" shaped table. At the head of the table was an antique gold and white epergne, in the shape of a cupid, holding an arrangement of white stock, pink carnations, and fern. English ivy was used down the length of the table, and three branched crystal candelabra with white tapers and pink cupids entwined about the tapers were used at intervals around the table.

Miss Dickard wore an emerald green silk peau de soie sheath and a white orchid corsage presented to her by the hosts. Place cards with tiny pink carnations marked places for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dickard, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ezell's "Ghost Town," by Ann McLemore; "Viola Solo," by Martha Keeling; Copeland's "Not Sad But Glad," by Marilyn Maxwell, and Eckstein's "Sombre-ro," by Jan McLemore.

Those present for the meeting were Jane Allen, Martha Allen, Janet Brown, Carol Cooper, Betty Heard, Martha Keeling, Myla Lance, Teresa Langley, Marilyn McKee, Ann McLemore, Jan McLemore, Susan Martin, Marilyn Maxwell, Kay Odum, Marianne Salisbury, Doris Shannon, Deborah Faye Warren, Carol Waska, and the counselors, Mrs. F. V. Allison and Mrs. James G. Caldwell.

A GREAT MEW AND CRY

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Of all the ungrateful cats...

All of one recent night there was a hearty howl from a cat which got stranded on the steeple roof of the Hyde Park Presbyterian Church. Early next day, two employees of the Humane Society reached the scene. One shinned up the first roof, then a second, and finally the third. He inched along toward the cat. When he was within inches of it, that perverse animal suddenly scurried down the roof and in a series of graceful leaps reached the ground.

A FESTIVE TEA SHOWER was given on Monday evening complimentary to bride-elect, Miss Carolyn Fletcher. Seen around the refreshment table were Mrs. W. G. Miller, a hostess, Mrs.

R. W. Fletcher, mother of the honoree, Miss Fletcher, and Mrs. Lucille Durham, the hostess in whose home the party was given.

Miss Carolyn Fletcher Honoree At Tea Shower Prior To Wedding Today

A pink theme was used throughout the home of Mrs. Lucille Durham at 314 Pargoud Drive on Monday evening, February 12, when Mrs. Durham and Mrs. William G. Miller entertained with a tea shower complimentary to Miss Carolyn Fletcher.

Miss Fletcher, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fletcher of Transylvania, will wed Allen Lee Petty, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Petty, of Monroe, today at the Gordon Avenue Methodist Church.

Guests were greeted in the entrance of the home by Mrs. Durham, and received by Mrs. Miller, Miss Fletcher, Mrs. Fletcher, and Mrs. H. B. Parker, the prospective groom's grandmother. In the living room crystal candelabra with pink tapers reposed on the mantel, flanked by a miniature bride, groom, and bridesmaids.

In the dining room on a Credenza was an arrangement of pink gladioli, while the refreshment table was centered with pink miniature mums and fern in a silver and crystal candelabrum. Pink punch was placed at

Literature Club Holds Annual Luncheon Meet

A Valentine motif was in evidence when members of the Current Literature Club met for their annual luncheon in the poolside room at the Holiday Inn Wednesday at noon. Red carnations in a white milk glass footed container and red tapers in milk glass candlesticks carried out the theme.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. L. M. Frey and Mrs. H. W. Tolson.

Mrs. L. M. Frey Jr. presided over the brief business session, calling for reports from the standing committees. The nominating committee presented a slate of officers for the coming year and they were elected. They include president, Mrs. Ernest Truitt; vice president, Mrs. Travis Davis; secretary, Mrs. Jesse Gilstrap; treasurer, Mrs. Herbert Walker; reporter, Mrs. H. M. Moak and parliamentarian, Mrs. L. M. Frey Jr.

Members attending the occasion were Mrs. H. M. Moak, Mrs. L. E. Pettit, Mrs. W. A. Whitfield Jr., Mrs. George Holt, Mrs. R. B. Bailey, Mrs. Jack Rushing, Mrs. Herbert Walker, Mrs. Jesse Gilstrap, Mrs. Ernest Truitt, Mrs. Travis Davis, Mrs. L. M. Frey Jr. and the hostesses.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What would you do if you were in my shoes? I've been going with Herbert for six months. I am 23. He is 27. We met at work.

Herbert's parents live in this city but I've never met them. He never suggested it until last week. Now it seems his mother would like me to come to dinner on his birthday which will be next month.

Herbert has already told me what to wear, how to fix my hair, and what to say. He suggested I leave the nail polish off and drop the hem of my good black dress a couple of inches.

Herbert has warned me against talking politics with his father as my views are different from his and there may be an argument.

I've had so much coaching I'm a wreck. I repeat—what would you do if you were in my shoes?—8 BALL

Dear 8 Ball: I'd tell Herbert it would be easier for him to get another girl than for you to do an overnight retooling job.

His unwillingness to present you as you are suggests that he is fearful his folks would not approve. You can take it from there.

Dear Ann Landers: I hired a very good man to work in my service station. He's the best worker I've had in a long time and I'd hate to let him go.

The problem is his wife. She comes to the station three times a day, kids around with the customers and interferes with her husband's work. At noon she brings him a hot lunch. Then she's back again about 3:00 o'clock. At 5:30 she is hanging around some more to drive him

Dear Ann Landers: Next month I am to be a bridesmaid for a young man from a prominent family so there have been many showers and parties.

I want to give her a unique shower so I hit on the idea of a "pantry supply party." By this I mean food stuffs, such as flour, sugar, spices, detergent, floor wax and so on.

I discussed this with a few girls and they all thought it was terrific. Then I received a call from the bride's mother. She was raging mad. According to her such home at quitting time, which is 6:30.

I have a wife, too, but she never comes down to the station unless it's to help out with the bookkeeping. I don't think a woman belongs around her husband's place of business unless there's a good reason.

How can I get this across to him without being too blunt?—STUMPED

Dear Stumped: The direct approach is best. Tell the fellow, as you told me, that he is the best worker you've had in a long time and you'd hate to let him go. Explain that his wife's presence at the station interferes with his work, and it's up to him to tell her so.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

If experience is our best teacher, it is also our best anchor when we are uncertain.

A Reader writes,

"Dear Mrs. Eldred: "Though my children are 11 and 15, I still read your column with great interest. It was such a help to me when the children were small, and advice on certain subjects still seems to cover my problems."

"I would like to offer a word of encouragement to the woman who was concerned about her 7-year-old daughter's ties. My son had several ties when he was a child. Our doctor advised us to remove them and we did, though we were aware that others did not."

"His ties consisted of stomach jerking, smelling everything he touched or ate, head jerking and many others I have forgotten. We tried to build up his self-confidence and always praised him whenever possible."

"I am happy to say that for several years he has had no ties of any kind. Although he is not an extrovert, he handles himself well with other people and has done average work in school. We are very proud of him and the more so since we realize that certain things — such as class recitation — are not easy for him. This would seem to suggest that children do outgrow such nervous habits."

Thank you very much for your continued interest in the column. Perhaps these nervous habits disappeared because the child was under less tension, having outgrown some of the timidity which made his relations with other persons uncomfortable for him.

Mrs. M.R. — When I suggest any book in the column, it can be purchased at any regular book store or book department in a department store. If the book seller has the name of book and author and publisher, he can order it for you if not in stock. The publisher of the book you mentioned is Bobbs Merrill.

To the mother who asked how a 9 month old child should be dressed indoors in winter weather, let me say this: If the house temperature is between 70 and 73 degrees, the child needs a cotton under shirt, a diaper, a polo-type outer shirt, socks and shoes and overalls, or the kind of long pants with attached feet so popular today.

The way this baby was dressed, as described by the mother, it is not surprising that he had so many colds. More clothing clearly indicated.

The leaflet, "Prayers and Graces of Many Religions," is available free to all readers of the column. If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Science Fair Is Scheduled

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Lab Squad at Columbia High School will host Kelly and Grayson at the fifth Annual parish-wide Science Fair here March 8.

Fair is co-sponsored by the Columbia Lab Squad and the Grayson Science Club. Financial aid is given by the local Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

Students in any of the parish schools may enter the competition in any of the following fields: chemistry, biology, physics, general science (for the Junior High School Students), and the Junior Academy of Sciences.

Ribbons will be presented to any contestant with a deserving project; and medals will be awarded to the first, second, and third place winners in each division. The best over-all project will receive a trophy.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine keeps telling me that her seven-year-old daughter hates school so much she pretends she doesn't feel well so she can stay home. The child's mother doesn't know the reason, but I do, because the little girl confided in me. It seems the child has trouble controlling her bladder and her teacher told all the children that those who asked to go to the bathroom told much would have rubber pants put on them. I don't know anything about psychology or teaching, but I have a mother's heart, and I think something should be done about it. I am not the busy-body type, but want to help this child. How?

A CHILD'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Tell the child's mother what you have told me. She, too, has a "mother's heart" and, I hope, the good sense to go to school and talk to the teacher.

DEAR ABBY: The biggest creep in Junior High went and wrote my name all over both his more, Buffalo, Chicago, Newport News, Norfolk and Portland and Searsport, Me.

How can I get him to rub my name off without talking to him? I am thinking about inviting him over to my house some evening. Would it be all right if I called him up on the phone for this purpose?

BUNNY
DEAR BUNNY: Make up your mind, Honey. Is he a creep or isn't he? If he's a creep, you surely don't want to call him on the phone and invite him to your house. If he's not a creep, don't protest so much! The moving fin-

DEAR ABBY: How did anything so unsanitary as "dips" ever get so popular? Over the holidays we attended many parties and everywhere they served "dips." It reminded me of a bunch of pigs going to a trough. I can't see how anyone would want to eat something that everyone in the place had stuck his fingers into. Can you explain it?

NO DIPPER
DEAR NO: I don't know how YOU eat dips, but everyone else uses a potato chip or a cracker.

DEAR ABBY: Will you tell the women who are bored with their husbands and the same old routine every day just to wait? How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

Property Owners Will Bear Costs

Ward 10 police juror L. U. Four said Friday that if Lake-shore area property owners agree on a sewerage district, the cost would be borne by the individual property owners, on a tax assessment basis.

Lakeshore residents are expected to meet some time before the next Ouachita Parish Police Jury meeting, March 14, to decide whether they want to put the sewerage district question to a vote. "The Police Jury will do what the majority of the people want," said Fourmy. "That's all we can do."

At present, there are two factions on the matter of a sewerage district, one in favor, and one opposing.

Fourmy commented that, "The people who contacted me were not against sewerage. They are against the manner in which it was handled."

"It looks like more are against the present plan than are for it,"

He said that some property owners oppose the plan because of "the indefiniteness of it, the area, costs and numerous other things that entered into it."

"The present plan doesn't have a complete knowledge of what the sewerage program will entail."

At the jury's Jan. 10 meeting, West Monroe engineer W. S. Nash presented a petition asking for the sewerage district.

Wednesday, Feb. 14, R. B. Martin presented an opposing petition with 488 signatures.

"The first time it was discussed, I believe they said the cost would be about $275,000. Then it seems they raised it to $400,000," the Ward 10 juror recalled.

The Lakeshore area is serviced by septic tanks.

Fourmy said that residents "have had a lot of difficulty due to the excessive rains last year and the snow this year. The tanks haven't been able to take care of the loads because the ground is just thoroughly saturated."

Still uncertain is the extent of area which would be covered under a sewerage district. Lakeshore, Bayou Shores, and other nearby areas have been mentioned.

The decision made at the yet unscheduled meeting of residents will be brought to the Police Jury.

Monroe Board

Supports PAR

School Survey

The Monroe City School Board unanimously backed a resolution in favor of a proposed survey of Louisiana high schools by the Public Affairs Research Council, J. H. Scogin, board president, announced Friday.

Scogin said, "I have polled all the members of the board and we are in unanimous agreement on this resolution."

A copy of the board's resolution was sent to PAR, State Supt. Shelby M. Jackson and the State Board of Education.

The board said, in the resolution, that it favors the survey because PAR would, "underwrite the cost," pointing out that the study would "determine factors which are conducive to quality instruction" in the high schools.

The board added that education officials "should welcome the opportunity to acquaint the public with progress of the schools."

Jackson has opposed the survey but the state board will hold a public meeting to hear PAR out.

Mrs. Preston's

Rites Scheduled

At 3 P.M. Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth H. Preston, 49, will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Mulhearn Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Earl B. Emmerich, pastor of the First Methodist Church of West Monroe, officiating.

Mrs. Preston, resident at 301 Ludwig in West Monroe, died early Friday morning in a local hospital.

Burial will be in the Riverview Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn's Funeral Home.

Mrs. Preston, a member of the First Methodist Church in West Monroe, served as court reporter in the Monroe area for years.

Survivors include one son, James Rowe Preston of West Monroe; one daughter, Mrs. Betty P. Sandifer of Monroe; her mother, Mrs. Alda P. Henry of West Monroe; two brothers, Dr. J. G. Henry of Monroe and H. C. Henry of Baton Rouge.

Palbearers will be John P. McKee, A. P. Burkett, Jack Willis, Herbert Rinehart, J. E. Whitaker, Norman Rushing.

Six From NLSC

THERE IS NO doubt that air passengers will know that Maryann, Joyce and Clair Hostetter live at this farm at Columbia, R2, Pa. The children stamped out their names in the snow near their barn, in script no less. If the photo puzzles you—turn it upside-down. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hostetter. Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Stan Kenton has broken up his big band again—temporarily, he says. He hopes to reorganize the 23 pieces in the Spring . . . Robert Kennedy and his wife had two dazzlers admiring them at a Hollywood party just before they left for Japan. — Marilyn Monroe and Kim Novak. Marilyn came on like a high school reporter, asking RFK a batch of political-type questions and jotting down the answers in longhand. Observers say Bobby appeared delighted by Marilyn's interest in global matters. . . . George Wein, the jazz impresario, plans to open a Storyville night spot in New York, similar to the one he used to operate in Boston.

You pay your money and you take your choice of rumors about Johnny Mathis. The pessimists fear he won't be able to any night-club dates for several months because of "his bad back" but cheerier souls are spreading the good news that he was doing the Twist in California only last week.

Feuer and Martin have been considering Joan Collins for a leading role in "Little Me." Let's hope they have some ideas on expanding the theme of the book: it was a bore of a one-joke novel. . . . Jennifer Jones may hit the Summer stock circuit if the theatre owners come up with sufficient loot.

Seven Arts, owners of Guy Endore's book, "King of Paris," are anxious to make it into a musical with Alfred Drake playing the lead. Watch out, fellows. Alfred Drake is an extremely competent performer and a great favorite with critics—probably never drew a bad notice in his life—but he doesn't mean beans with the customers who line up (or refuse to line up) at the box office, unless he's in a hit that would be a hit with anyone playing his part. I tried to convey that information to the producers of the recent flop, "Kwan," but they didn't believe me. Again, Drake won't draw notices from the professional reviewers, but the public didn't buy him.

The public doesn't always agree with the drama critics, as could be proven by the headlines over reviews that called that ghastly musical comedy, "13 Daughters," a "new hit show." Those clippings weren't even faintly yellowed when the musical folded. . . . A leading New York divorce lawyer has had all his files micro-filmed so the records - many of them spicier than any Henry Miller novel - could be stored in a bombproof warehouse upstate. Now, why?

A big Havana cigar black market is shaping up already. Loads of stories are being cornered by profiteers angling to zoom the prices as soon as possible. . . . George Hamilton's appearance with Susan Kohner at El Morocco the other night revived reports they planned to announce their engagement soon. . . . They're beginning to gag up the screen version of "Gypsy," which suggests the producers don't have sufficient confidence in the material that made a Broadway hit. Example: Jack Benny will appear briefly in the film as a violinist in a broken down vaudeville house. (Really, kids, it was a good show. It doesn't need that kind of hokiness.)

Greta Garbo made life worth living for the Milan photographers the other day when she flew in and provided them with an unflattering picture of her, with no dark glasses and a scarf draped around her wild hairdo. . . . Never mind the music inside (it's good) but please check the album cover on the Nancy Wilson-Cannonball Adderly LP. Aren't all

Poet Released From Hospital

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Poet Robert Frost, ill since Feb. 6 with a pneumonia-causing virus, was released from Baptist Hospital Friday.

Frost was taken by private car to his winter home in South Miami. A doctor said the 87-year-old dean of American poetry would be attended by his nurse and secretary while he regains his strength.

No visitors will be permitted for several days, the doctor said.

Catholic Woman President Talk Set For March

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Mrs. Arthur L. Zeph, president of National Council of Catholic Women, will be principal speaker at the 5th Annual Convention of the Alexandria Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, to be held here Saturday and Sunday, March 10 and 11.

Mrs. Zeph, of Toledo, Ohio, is vice-president of the Executive Board and a member of the Board of Directors at the University of Toledo; a member of the Budget Committee of Community Chest, a board member of the American Cancer Society, Lucas County Chapter, and a charter member of the Women's Guild of Lucas County Chapter, National Foundation.

She has been extremely active for many years in civic, social, and church work, and in addition has served on the staff of the First National Bank of Norwood, Ohio, for seven years.

Speaking to the Second Session of the convention to be held here, Mrs. Zeph's topic will be "The Council Accepts Our Holy Father's Mandate." Her talk will be a response to that made by Rev. Walter E. Walsh, Dean of Studies at Maryhill Seminary, entitled "Our Holy Father Gives Mandate - Mater et Magistra."

Mrs. Zeph will be honored at a buffet supper sponsored by the Natchitoches Deanery Council which will be held Saturday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. Natchitoches Deanery Council will host the two-day convention which will be attended by Catholic Women in the Alexandria Diocese.

Mississippi Asks Return Of Three

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett asked Alabama and Louisiana Friday to return men wanted in Mississippi on court charges.

Barnett asked Alabama to return James S. Dalton to Lauderdale County to face false pretense charges, Alabama to return Henry Glover to Lauderdale to face burglary charges and Louisiana to return George Stockman to Lowndes County to face escape charges.

BOATING

Howard Griffin Theme Of Article

Editor's Note: The following item about Monroe and a Monroe business was distributed by United Press International through its newsfeatures which are sent to all newspapers subscribing to the UPI service)

By JACK WOLISTON United Press International

One of the most fabulous personalities in the boating industry began his rewarding career by fixing flats on bicycles and repairing motorcycles.

His name is Howard Griffin. For the past two years he has been the nation's leading salesman of outboard motors for one company (Johnson).

Griffin does not live in New York or Chicago or Miami or in the Minnesota lake country. His place of business is located in Monroe, La., a prosperous little city that lies beside the most beautiful river in the United States — the Ouachita River.

About 30 years ago, during the Great Depression, Griffin set up a small shop on South Grand St., only five minutes' walk from Monroe's main street and only a few feet away from the sparkling waters of the Ouachita.

His first customers were high school students who needed headlamps for their bicycles or wanted to fix a flat. Some of his older customers wanted repairs for their motorcycles, because in those days few could afford automobiles.

The depression failed to affect Griffin. His business thrived and he added small outboard motors to his inventory of bikes and motorcycles. In the years to follow, place of business is located in Monroe, La., a prosperous little city that lies beside the most beautiful river in the United States — the Ouachita River.

Today, in 1962, Griffin's place of business is still located in the same spot on South Grand St. But it is no longer a tiny repair shop. It is a huge place with spacious showrooms and a means of good living for scores of employees.

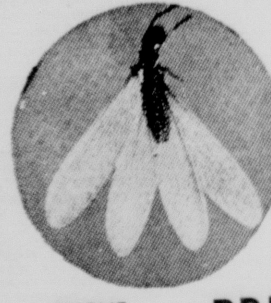

And more than 30 years later from his beginnings in this business, Griffin still has a youthful look.

When asked why he had been able to outsell other motorboat salesmen in the nation, the shy and quiet businessman seemed puzzled.

"I really don't know," Griffin said. "It could be because we are located in an area near many fishing spots. Customers come from as far as 150 miles away regularly."

Perhaps the true answer is that Griffin is aggressive without being ostentatious, a person who is easy to talk to. And he has been encouraged and helped by his charming and attractive wife, who now manages the area's largest toy store, owned by Griffin and situated in his complex of buildings.

And though Griffin now stocks a complete line of boat motors, he still sells bicycles and, if you asked him, he would probably forget about everything else and fix your flat.
